Pedestrians Victims In Ohio Cities During Week End; Student Struck Down

By International News Service

A terrific crash of two automobiles near Frankfort, west of Chillicothe, Sunday, had resulted today in deaths of two persons and injury of four others.

Dead were Mrs. Elias McBee, Springfield, and Newton Nance, Kitts Hill, Lawrence County. The injured included Mrs. McBee's husband, their grandson, Robert Herzog and Mr. Nance's daughter, Mrs. Ruth Sloan, and J. W. Hardy of Jeffersonville, the latter two riding in the other car.

The Chillicothe hospital said McBee had a crushed chest, Herzog severe bruises, Hardy a broken nose and Mrs. Sloan cuts and bruises.

The state highway patrol, which investigated, said that the car in which Nance was riding, skidded into the McBee automobile's path.

At least 11 Ohio persons met death in week end traffic mishaps, a survey disclosed today. Seven victims were pedestrians who were struck down on city streets or highways. Four were killed instantly or injured fatally in automobile collisions.

Lyle Meeker, 21, of Scioto County, was fatally injured and three companions were hurt when their car skidded on wet pavement at Lynx, Adams County, and collided with the automobile of George Grogan, Huntington, W. Va.

Coroner Investigates

The highway patrol said no arrests would be made pending a coroner's inquiry.

Injuries suffered when he was struck down by an automobile proved fatal to Joseph Dailey, 72, Cincinnati. Dailey was a native of Ireland.

Mrs. Margaret Shaw, 64, Cincinnati, died from injuries suffered when she was struck by a taxicab.

Mrs. Lulu Schneider, 54, Cincinnati, died in St. Marys Hospital after being hit by an automobile.

Seventeen-year-old Richard Jones, Columbus East High School student, was struck down and killed.

EFFORTS TO SAVE CANCER VICTIM PROVE FRUITLESS

CINCINNATI, Dec. 11 — Although physicians tried to save her life through frozen sleep treatments, Mrs. April Davis, 18, Richmond, Ind., was dead today, a victim of cancer.

Physicians said her case was too far advanced for aid from even the medical profession's latest and most effective weapon against cancer.

Because of Mrs. Davis' weakened condition, periods of frozen sleep were maintained only for from six to eight hours—instead of from five to six days as is customary.

Voluntary contributions in several Richmond churches enabled Mrs. Davis to come to Cincinnati's Jewish Hospital for the treatment.

6,000 SCHOOLBOYS JOIN FINNS' DEFENSE ARMY

STOCKHOLM, Dec. 11—Six thousand Finnish schoolboys, too young to serve with the regular army, have enrolled as volunteers to battle the Russian forces invading Finland, Elias Erkkio, former Finnish foreign minister and now minister to Sweden, said today.

Many of these youths, he said, already have given their lives for their country.

Colorado Solon Voices His Plan As Garner Friends Open His Campaign

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—A "draft Wheeler" note was injected today into administration's family quarrel over choice of a successor to President Roosevelt, as backers of Vice-President John Nance Garner prepared to formally launch his campaign for the Democratic nomination.

Senator Edwin C. Johnson, of Colorado, urged his Democratic colleagues to stop quarreling over Mr. Roosevelt's successor and pick a 1940 winner by nominating Senator Burton K. Wheeler, of Montana. Johnson said it was "silly" to attempt to draft Mr. Roosevelt against his will and that Wheeler's great liberal record would insure victory for the Democrats next year.

The Garner forces, meanwhile, disclosed they will formally launch his campaign Thursday night, when E. B. Germany, leader of the Garner movement in Texas, makes

SCHOOL SENIOR KILLS HIS GIRL, TAKES POISON

CHARLES CITY, Ia., Dec. 11—Warner Blewett, 17, president of the senior class at Colwell, Ia., high school, was reported recovering in a Charles City hospital today of strychnine taken after allegedly killing his sweetheart, Dorothy Carter, 15, president of the freshman class in the same school.

Blewett purportedly told Chickasaw County officials today that he brought the girl to Charles City to a motion picture show last night, bought her a candy bar, and drove into the country. At a point near Colwell he assertedly said, he told her to "look at that fire over there."

When the girl turned her head, officers said, Blewett fired a shotgun at her, the charge grazing her neck. The youth then allegedly struck her over the head with the butt of the gun and threw her into a ditch.

KENNEDY FINDS NO EXCUSE FOR U. S. IN STRIFE

BOSTON, Dec. 11—The United States would not be justified on any grounds in entering the European war in the opinion of Joseph P. Kennedy, ambassador to England, today.

"This is not our war, we must stay out of it," Kennedy told a Boston audience in his first public appearance since he returned to the United States on vacation. "There is no justification—economically, socially, financially or politically for the United States entering this war. There is no place in it for us. Every statement to the contrary could be met with this question: 'Why should we?'"

Volunteer Italians Seen On Streets Of Helsinki; Hango Being Bombed

By International News Service

Finland, putting up a desperate struggle against titanic Russia, still held the international spotlight today as the Finnish high command claimed to have repelled a new series of land, sea and air attacks.

Moscow, however, announced in a communique that Red army troops had advanced between three and four miles on all fronts, capturing four more Finnish towns.

Unofficial Finnish sources, however, estimated that the Russians have lost 25,000 men on the Karelian front since the hostilities began.

200,000 Deer Removed

(At Copenhagen the newspaper National Tidende said powerful searchlights were flooding the battlefield at Petsamo in the Far North, where heavy fighting took place in the Arctic twilight. The paper reported that 15,000 civilians and 200,000 reindeer have been evacuated from the Petsamo area.)

Unofficial reports said that the Finnish air forces, aided by experienced Italian pilots and supported by Finnish artillery, bombed and annihilated an entire column of Russian tanks and armored cars.

At the same time, following naval bombardments of Finland's southern coast, Soviet warplanes unleashed a mass bombing attack against the Finnish fortified port of Hango.

ANTI-POLITICS LAW MAY BE EXTENDED BY HATCH

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—Senator Hatch (D) New Mexico, revealed today that he wants the current act forbidding federal employees, except those holding policy-making positions, from engaging in political practices, to include certain state agencies that administer federal funds.

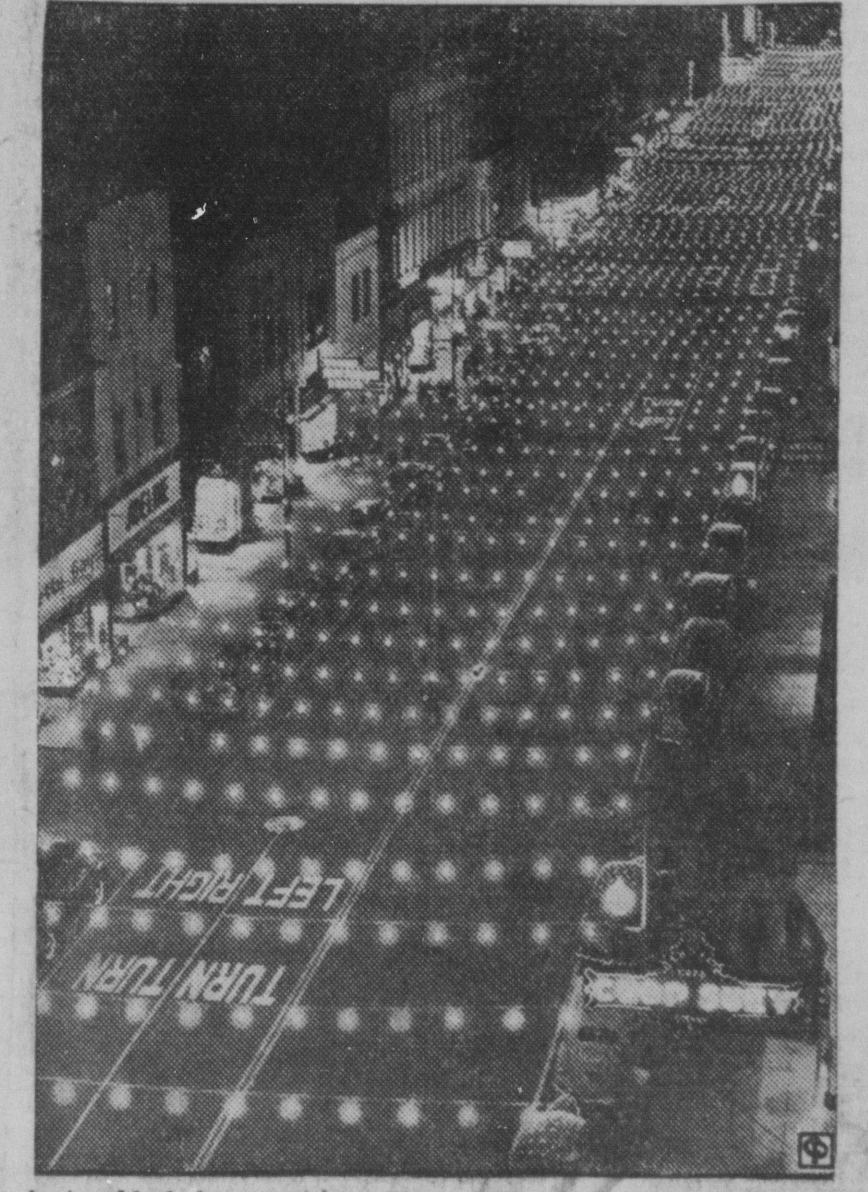

Hatch is author of the anti-politics act which also prohibits the use of relief funds for political purposes.

The move to expand the act to include thousands of state-federal employees was held significant in view of the 1940 political campaigns and the widespread opposition that has developed against the law, passed at the last regular session of congress.

DR. TULLOSS OF POSTAL FIGURES WITTENBERG ON SHOW ANOTHER WAY TO O. S. U.? CLIMB IN CITY

COLUMBUS, Dec. 11—As Ohio State University's trustees met once more to attempt to agree on a new president, the name of Dr. Rees E. Tulloss, now president of Wittenberg college, today entered the list of presidential possibilities.

Several of the seven trustees were said to be favorable to naming Dr. Tulloss to succeed President George Rightmire who resigned over a year ago. Recently Dr. Tulloss offered to resign as head of Wittenberg, but the trustees rejected the resignation.

He is a native of Leipsic, Putnam County, and head of a Springfield bank.

There was no assurance that an agreement would be reached by the Ohio State trustees at today's meeting. Besides Dr. Tulloss, they were considering Dr. Wilson Compton, George Washington University, and Dr. James Grover McDonald, Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences.

GERMANS WATCH LEAGUE CONFAB WITH INTEREST

BERLIN, Dec. 11 — Nazi Germany today officially disclaimed authorship of the latest European peace move reported in Amsterdam but at the same time turned significant attention to the League of Nations assembly meeting in Geneva, where Soviet Russia is "on trial" for her invasion of Finland.

Germany is not a member of the league, and that body's recent activities have been scorned or ignored by the Reich.

But for the present session, a veritable army of German newspaper correspondents is present in the Swiss city, a fact of considerable importance in itself.

In addition, authentic spokesmen declared that on this occasion, Germany is "closely watching" the league session and will undoubtedly take careful note of any activity by neutral nations "which is outspokenly unfavorable."

Londoners Admit More Freighters Mined

COPENHAGEN, Dec. 11 — Grave fears were felt today for the safety of 185 passengers, many of them Polish refugees, aboard the 1,181-ton steamer Estonia, which left Tallinn on Saturday and has not been heard from since.

The vessel was due at Stockholm at noon yesterday. It was feared the steamer had either struck a mine and sunk or had been captured by German or Russian warships.

BERLIN, Dec. 11 — The small Estonian steamer Kassari was shelled and sunk by an unidentified submarine near the mouth of the Gulf of Finland, the Berlin radio reported today from Tallinn, Estonia. One member of the crew was missing and two others were wounded by gunfire.

LONDON, Dec. 11—British authorities announced the loss of another British freighter today and at the same time said hope had been abandoned for four more ships which were so long overdue at their destinations that they were considered lost.

It was stated that the British freighter Willowpool had struck a mine and sunk. Thirty-six members of the 4,815-ton vessel's crew were landed at an East Coast port.

The vessels which were given up as lost were the 4,222-ton Ashlea, the 4,516-ton Newton Beach, the 8,196-ton Huntsman and the 5,299-ton Trevanian, all of them freighters. The Huntsman, a large cargo vessel, had been reported sunk last week.

15 Lost in Week

At the same time authorities disclosed that during the week ending December 9, Great Britain lost seven ships totalling 33,518 tons, neutrals lost eight ships totalling 26,612 tons. These figures represented the third highest losses for a single week since the beginning of the war.

British authorities today scouted a German claim that two British tankers aggregating 18,000 tons have been added to the toll of British vessels sent to the bottom.

TEXAS TAX LAW WINS FAVOR OF SUPREME COURT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—The Supreme Court today held constitutional the Texas corporation franchise tax law of Texas as construed to tax the Ford Motor Company $7,529 for the year 1936.

Under the formula laid down by the Texas law, Ford Motor Company capital was allocated to the state for tax purposes by basing it upon the proportion of receipts from Texas business as compared to total business.

Soviet Uses Force From Cold Region

Helsingfors Reports Reds Sending Polish Captives Ahead Of Troops

HELSINGFORS, Dec. 11 — Reinforced by rugged mid-Asiatic tribesmen from the wild Russian steppes, Soviet troops launched a general offensive against Finland in all the battle areas today.

The tribesmen were sent into action against the Finns because they are better able than regular Soviet troops to withstand the intense cold in Finland's Arctic regions.

In addition, reports from Stockholm charged that the Russians were using Polish prisoners as advance guards and shields, sending both men and women captives ahead of the regular army to explode mines at the risk of their own lives and clear the way for mechanized troops in their rear.

The Russians used motorized units, tanks and airplanes in the renewed onslaught, military headquarters said, attacking all along Finland's eastern border from Petsamo in the Far North to the Karelian Isthmus in the South.

Before the new offensive began, it was announced that Finnish troops had counter-attacked north of Lake Ladoga, recapturing the strategic town of Suomisalmi which lies on the path of Russia's reported route to Uleaborg on the Gulf of Bothnia in a campaign to cut Finland in two.

Prior to the new advance, there had been no aerial activity during this morning due to heavy fog and temperatures as low as 10 degrees above zero. The whole country was blanketed in heavy frost.

'WIRE TAPPING' FROWNED ON IN COURT'S DECREE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 — In a condemnation of "wire tapping" which broadened previous rulings, the Supreme Court today held that the federal government cannot use evidence obtained by this means in a criminal trial.

The court further ruled that interception of intrastate — as well as interstate — messages is illegal.

In one "wire tapping" decision, the court divided 6 to 1 with Justice McReynolds dissenting and Justice Reed not participating. Its second decision was unanimous.

The court, which had previously ruled that the Federal Communications Act of 1934 barred tapping of interstate messages, was called upon for the second time to review conviction of Frank C. Nardone, Nathan W. Hoffman and Robert Gottfried.

Stock Association Has Best Month in History

The Pickaway Livestock Association enjoyed the largest volume of business in its history during November, it was revealed Saturday night at the meeting of directors of the association held in the Farm Bureau Home.

During the month 115 cars of livestock were handled. Shipments included 5,975 head of stock with a total weight of 1,729,620 pounds. The list included 4,116 hogs weighing 843,950 pounds, 1,010 cattle weighing 787,720 pounds, 61 feeder calves weighing 21,825 pounds, 266 calves weighing 42,420 pounds and 522 sheep weighing 34,605 pounds. There were 785 consigners of stock.

Previous high shipments of the association were 99 carloads of stock in December 1936 and 98 carloads in December 1937. Indications are that there will be heavy shipments of stock this month, officials said. The association has been in business since 1921.

Harry J. Briggs, service manager of the Farm Bureau, said the increased volume in local shipments is in line with national conditions. Reports received by Mr. Briggs show that 4,500,000 hogs were marketed in United States last month, an increase of 13 percent over the same month last year. The volume was six percent above the average for the period from 1929 to 1933.

difficult for Finnish anti-aircraft units to strike back.
Unofficial quarters, estimating the Reds had lost 25,000 men in the Karelian area, attributed the high number of deaths to alleged insufficient care for the Soviet wounded. It was charged that many wounded Red soldiers were left to die in the snow.
On the streets of Helsinki, volunteer Italian aviators were seen. Many of them have had experience in the Spanish war. Some are believed to have gone into action already against the Russian air force. About 100 Italian and 50 British planes are understood to have been added to the Finnish air arm.
The Finnish parliament adopted a resolution appealing to the civilized world for "active" help against Russia.
The proclamation declared that "our position as the advance post of Western Civilization entitles us to expect the assistance of all civilized nations."

In Geneva, the League of Nations assembly, faced with the Russo-Finnish problem, met and quickly adjourned to permit selection of a special committee to deal with Finland's appeal. It was considered doubtful the assembly would vote to expel Russia from the league.
In the European war, little activity was reported on the Western Front, save for a bitter fight over one advance outpost. A German raiding party captured the post, held it for 12 hours and then was driven out by French counter-attack.

Claims Countered
At sea the Germans claimed to have sunk two British tankers, but naval authorities in London said they knew nothing of this claim.
In addition, it was revealed that King George VI, before returning to London, had visited one of the hottest parts of the Western Front, where British forces are now installed, on Saturday. While at the front the king was within easy range of German artillery.
Reports from Amsterdam told of a possible new German "peace offensive" launched through Premier Mussolini and envisaging a line-up of major European powers against Russia.
At Berlin, however, high Nazi authorities declared Germany always is ready for peace, but on Chancellor Hitler's and not on Allied-dictated terms.

F. B. I. ARRESTS EX-PREACHER ON KIDNAP CHARGE

JEANNETTE, Pa., Dec. 11—A former spartanite preacher who allegedly kidnaped his ex-housekeeper and transported her from Dertio to his Jeannette home was under arrest today while F. B. I. operatives investigated the story related by Mrs. Virginia Storey Quashnie, 26.

Lawrence Treagesser, 48, was being held, the G-men said, while they checked Mrs. Quashnie's charge that she had been forced at gun point to return to Jeannette last Tuesday.

The F. B. I. men were called into the case when Mrs. William Hall, of Detroit, for whom Mrs. Quashnie was employed as a housekeeper, turned over a letter which she received from Mrs. Quashnie outlining the allegations.

In his cell, Treagesser declared his love for Mrs. Quashnie repeatedly. He said:

"One Sunday I asked her to go for a walk but she wouldn't go. That may sound foolish to you but it was serious to me."

Mrs. Quashnie said she had worked for Mrs. Hall for the last month but previous to that had been Treagesser's housekeeper since February, 1938. Last Tuesday, she told F. B. I. men, Treagesser came to the Hall home and was admitted by one of the children.

He allegedly ordered her to get dressed in street clothes and then took a bus to Butler, Pa., and after a wait of several hours, another bus to Pittsburgh, it was understood. From Pittsburgh, they took a train to Jeannette, Mrs. Quashnie said.

"He didn't tell me to keep quiet but I didn't talk anyway," Mrs. Quashnie related. "You wouldn't have talked either if you would have been as scared as I was."

She said she hadn't been out of his three-room apartment since Tuesday. She smuggled the letter out of the Treagesser home by giving it to one of his children.

a nationwide broadcast on the subject: "John Garner and 1940." Garnerites say Germany will speak with "authority" and formally open the Texan's campaign for the presidency.

A host of Republican leaders in Washington over the week end for the Gridiron dinner, went home without settling their most pressing current issue—whether to hold their convention before or after the Democrats, in the summer or in the fall. Decision rests with the national committee, which will be called into session by National Chairman John D. M. Hamilton whenever he sees fit. Hamilton will issue the call until there is better agreement on when to hold the convention.

In proposing Wheeler as a compromise candidate for the Democrats, Johnson jibed at Senator George W. Norris, Nebraska Republican Independent, who demanded that Mr. Roosevelt be drafted for a third term, and at Secretary of the Interior Harold I. Ickes, another third termer who declared a New Deal war on Social Security Administrator Paul V. McNutt, of Indiana.

Johnson said: "I join with Secretary Ickes and Senator Norris in their desire that a liberal Democrat be nominated. I do not agree, however, with them that a man should be forced against his will to run for a third term. I do not believe that the liberal cause is so completely bankrupt in candidates as that. I suggest Burton K. Wheeler for the consideration of these nervous politicians."

"Wheeler's whole political life has been closely identified with the liberal cause. When a great liberal like Senator La Follette introduced a resolution denouncing a third term, practically every Democrat and every progressive including Senator Norris, voted for it. It is silly to profess that there is an emergency in this country that demands the nomination of Mr. Roosevelt against his will. It is not fair to him nor the country."

DEBT MOVES UP, NEARING LIMIT FIXED BY LAW

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—The public debt moved half a billion dollars nearer the $45,000,000,000 statutory limit today as $523,000,000 cash borrowing operation by the treasury department brought the government's total obligations to $41,882,746,768.

The overnight debt increase was reflected in the daily statement by the treasury in two places—first, in the gross public debt item, and second, in the working (cash) balance which increased from $1,413,869,777 to $1,924,145,947. The newly borrowed money went into the fund which Treasury Secretary Morgenthau keeps on hand to meet current expenses of the government.

War's Spotlight May Soon Shift to Rumania

NEWEST developments in war-torn Europe are shown on this map as Soviet Russia shifts her political attention from Finland to the Balkans. Through the Communist Internationale, the Soviets now are demanding that Basarabia secede from Rumania and warn Turkey of the "danger" of her Anglo-French alliance. Meanwhile Russia's war on Finland and Germany's submarine attacks continue, while little action occurs on the Western Front.

New Anti-Stalin Group Organizing in Russia

LONDON, Dec. 11—Every republic in the Soviet Union today is honey-combed with groups in opposition to Stalin. These groups are composed of dissatisfied members of the intelligentsia, and they are regarded by the secret police as the most dangerous counter-revolutionary organization the Bolsheviks have ever faced.

They call themselves "The Friends of Maxim Gorki," and their grievances are based upon the suppression of liberal and creative thought in schools and universities and among artists and writers.

This was revealed to International News Service by a Soviet authority whose identity cannot be published. He was not, however, in sympathy with the group; he referred to them indignantly as "Trotskyist wreckers."

Stalin Ordered Killing
They believe that Stalin ordered the killing of Maxim Gorki because of the latter's criticism of the Red dictator's policies, and they regard Gorki as the martyr of the Soviet intelligentsia.

This writer covered the trial of the alleged murders of Maxim Gorki in Moscow two years ago, and, even then, there were whispers of discontent. The trial involved a plot to overthrow Stalin, and several high political leaders, including Bukharin, Yagoda, and Rykov, were among the twenty-one defendants. The first session opened at noon, March 2, 1937, and the confessions and accusations lasted ten days, culminating with the verdict which was rendered at 4:30 on the morning of March 13. Eighteen were sentenced to death, and three were given prison sentences ranging from fifteen to twenty-five years.

Aside from political crimes, the defendants, among whom were three doctors, were accused of participating in the murder of four men, including Gorki, and the attempted murder of a fifth. The manner in which the murders were carried out had a special Russian flavor; it was charged, for example, that on of the accused regularly sprinkled the walls of Nikolai Yezhoff's office with poison.

Plot Discovered
Yezhoff, who was then head of the secret police, was said to have breathed the poison for several weeks, with great damage to his lungs. He escaped with his life only when the plot was discovered in time.

From the intricate maze of testimony, it emerged that Yagoda was the chief villain. Before his arrest, he had been director of the OGPU, and he had had secret ambitions to succeed Stalin. Using his great power, Yagoda forced three doctors, both by threats and bribery to commit the murders. There was no violence connected with any of the deaths, but, as one of the defendants, Dr. Levin calmly explained:

"Every prescription may be poisonous if taken in excessive amounts, or at the wrong time."

THE GARDEN CLINIC

By VICTOR H. RIES, O. S. U. Floriculturist

QUESTION: Would you recommend fertilizing lawns with barnyard manure? If so, should it be fresh or rotted? The lawn is in very poor condition and I feel it needs fertilization.
ANSWER: The poorer the lawn is the worse the damage from manure, for, although it will provide plant food if it is relatively fresh, it will also add so many weed seeds that you will be worse off than before. It is much more satisfactory and far more aesthetically to use one of the regular commercial fertilizers. May I suggest you ask your county agricultural agent for our bulletin which gives complete instructions on the care and fertilization of lawns.

QUESTION: I have a good chance to get some old and well rotted sawdust from a nearby sawmill. Would it be worth my time to get it and put it on my garden?
ANSWER: You will find that sawdust, after it has aged for a few years, is excellent material either for mulching evergreens, roses, and perennials or for incorporating with the soil to loosen the clay soils that are so prevalent throughout Ohio. It will, however, have no fertilizing value so that you will need to add a complete commercial fertilizer. One with an analysis of 4-12-4 may be used on everything in your garden.

QUESTION: There are two very large Carolina poplars in front of our house. I find that in the past year the evergreens I have planted in front of the porch have been killed due to the shade and the roots of the poplars. What would you recommend that I do since I do not want to take the poplars down?
ANSWER: I am sure you will find that shrubs will be able to grow under this difficult situation far better than evergreens. Among the shrubs that are best adapted for this difficult situation are the Alpine currant, regal privet, coralberry, preferably the Chenault variety. If you wish taller plants than this, I would recommend the five-leaved Aralia, Ithya privet, Morrow honeysuckle, or flowering currant.

QUESTION: My Christmas cactus has a number of small white-scale-like things all over the leaves. Can you tell me what there is on it and what to do to control it?
ANSWER: Judging from the many samples of ferns, cactus, and other plants sent to me recently, you probably have an infestation of one of the scale insects. The best control for this is spraying with suitable insecticides. I suggest you ask your county agricultural agent for a copy of a bulletin on house plants and for information about suitable sprays for scale insects.

QUESTION: Will you please tell me something about the Christmas rose?
ANSWER: The Christmas rose, Helleborus niger, is not a rose but an evergreen hardy perennial that blooms in mild winters from November through March. Its white flowers and dark green foliage are extremely attractive. They grow best in partial shade. Once planted, they should be left alone. I have seen plants around some of the farm houses in the state that were planted by the grandparents of the present occupants. They are perfectly hardy and extremely permanent.

QUESTION: What can you tell me about the cucumber tree?
ANSWER: The cucumber tree is one of our native trees found scattered pretty much all over the state although not in abundance. It belongs to the magnolia family and as such is closely related to the tulip tree, often called tulip poplar. Ligo all magnolias, it should be planted in the spring rather than the fall. It makes an excellent shade tree with a rather broad head.

QUESTION: I have a bank in front of my house along the highway six feet high and 100 feet long. Since it is difficult to mow, I am wondering what you would recommend to plant on it. Would you plant this right in the grass or do you recommend spading it up before planting?
ANSWER: I believe you will find that any plants you plant here will do better if you remove the grass and hold the soil with a liberal mulch of straw or strawy manure. On a bank of this size you will have to use some of the more vigorous ground cover plants. Probably the best of these would be the memorial rose (Rose of Wichuraiana). Be sure to buy this from a reliable nursery or from a rose specialist. It is a common thing but not carried by the smaller nurseries. You would also find the Japanese honeysuckle extremely satisfactory. Our native woodbine or native bittersweet would give excellent results. If you could afford to purchase this or had access to a large patch, you will find that the common periwinkle or myrtle would give excellent results.

NEW FLOOD WALL TO BE STARTED AT PORTSMOUTH

PORTSMOUTH, O., Dec. 11—Plans were completed today for the proposed new flood wall designed to keep the Ohio river in check between Portsmouth and New Boston, a distance of six miles. Contracts for the $6,000,000 project will be let within 60 days, according to Major Fred Bass, Cincinnati district army engineer.

ASHVILLE YOUTH WINS PRINCE OF PEACE CONTEST

Paul Bowers, Senior In High School, Awarded County Championship

SIX JOIN COMPETITION

Mary J. Bowers, Circleville Entrant, Second; Crowd Attends Event

Paul Bowers, senior of Ashville High School and son of Mrs. Ona Bowers of Ashville, won first place Sunday night in the Pickaway County Prince of Peace Contest held in the First United Brethren Church.

Second place winner was Mary Jane Bowers, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Bowers, South Court Street. Miss Bowers is a senior in Circleville High School.

Paul Bowers will represent Pickaway County in the district contest to be held during January. Details concerning the district contest have not been completed.

Six in Competition

There were six contestants in the Sunday night event. In addition to those who took first and second places the others who participated were Kathryn Martin of Pickaway Township School, Rose Mary Clark of Williamsport School, Tom Duvall of Commercial Point School and David Hilyard, Circleville High School. Circleville had two contestants due to the number participating in the city contest.

Judges were Prof. A. B. Weiser of Canal Winchester, Harold K. Costlow, superintendent of New Holland Schools, and Mrs. Costlow. A large crowd attended the contest, conducted in connection with the regular church service.

The county contest was in charge of a committee consisting of the Rev. H. O. Harbaugh of Ashville, R. S. Lawrence of Commercial Point, D. H. Householder of Williamsport, C. F. Bowman of Circleville and Myron T. Johnson, superintendent of Pickaway Township Schools.

ASHVILLE

Little Don Hedges, 18 months, son of Roger and Mrs. Hedges just East of town, is home now and getting along fine. He had been at Mt. Carmel Hospital for a couple of weeks recovering from an empyema operation, so the doctor called it. Mrs. Rose Hedges at the same home and abed for a couple of weeks a victim of gripe, is able to be up part time.

Theodore Boor, our local inventor of no mean ability, told us that his "around the corner new fangled" land breaking plow is working to perfection and that his demonstration a few days ago, was well attended by many interested farmers.

That Santa Claus getting killed stuff was a mistake. He's sent word to headquarters here that the Ashville and community children will be well cared for and that he expects to be here and attend to it himself. Don't know the exact date and hour but will let us know very soon, he said.

Tuesday evening is joint Ashville-Harrison School board meeting at the school office. The best part of the business transacted, to the teachers, is the pay check allowance. The Holiday vacation period is December 22-Jan. 2, last and first school days.

Wednesday, for more practice, we have with us again that bunch of fine school kiddies from the high schools all over the county. And we were so favorably impressed with their behavior when here a few days ago, that we hope to see more of them in action.

The musical is the night following this practice at the local school auditorium.

Thrills in "Barricade"

British King in Visit To Front Line District

By Kenneth T. Downs

With The French Armies on the Western Front, Dec. 11—King George VI of England on Saturday visited one of the hottest sectors of the Western Front where within range of the Germans he inspected part of the British Expeditionary Force now installed there.

This can be revealed today now that the British monarch has ended his tour of the front-line positions and has returned to London.

Accompanied by General Lord Gort, commander of the British forces, and General Marie Gustav Gamelin, commander-in-chief of the Allied armies, the king spent the entire day at the front with in easy range of German artillery at all times.

He visited fortresses of the Maginot Line, lunching at one of them, and then went to an observation post beyond the Maginot Line where with glasses he viewed the first enemy positions about five miles away.

The program was carried out in utmost secrecy and even the small group of accredited French, British and American correspondents who met the monarch received sealed orders at dawn.

Planes Grounded

The most elaborate precautions were taken against a sudden air attack on the regions visited by the king. These measures, however, proved unnecessary because lowering gray clouds kept planes grounded throughout the day.

The king and the generals set a fast pace, although wading ankle-deep in mud. By noon they had made inspections of B. E. F. units at three different places.

The British Tommies looked fit and tough in their full war uniforms, which included a new type of leather jerkins and short gaiters, with loose trousers resembling ski trousers.

The king visited one monster Maginot fortress and then lunched in another. On emerging from a side-hill fortress entrance, his majesty bestowed a D. S. O. on a French colonial officer and a distinguished Flying Cross on a little blond French pilot. Gen. Gamelin pinned a Croix De Guerre on the breast of a slim, red-haired Royal Air Force aviator.

Half-way down the hill the king and his party stood at the side of a road and reviewed units of British and French infantry led by a splendid Maginot Line band which in its muddy shoes and war gear looked considerably different than when I saw it last on the Champs Elysees in Paris on July 14.

CAVALCADE OF AMERICA

The Cavalcade of America, combining authentic history with the appeal of the country's best-sellers as written by the program's new historical advisers, Marquis James and Carl Carmer, will take to the air early in January. Through the literary magic and authoritative research of Carmer and James, once more America's great and their anonymous satellites will move across the radio stage with their ships and squirrel rifles and ringing rails as James painted them in Andrew Jackson and Carmer in Listen For a Lonesome Drum.

The new Cavalcade starts on January 2, on 96 stations of the National Broadcasting Company every Tuesday night, and the first story it will tell is the tale of Amerigo Vespucci, who gave his name to a great continent, starting a historical controversy that has raged for hundreds of years. The story of Vespucci will begin a series of chapters, given in chronological order, to tell the story of America through the lives of her most vibrant characters. They will be brought to life by historians whose ability to make them live has already been demonstrated in fields outside radio.

ATTACKS BRICKER REPLY

Governor To Broadcast At Ohio Banquet And Answer Relief Questioners

COLUMBUS, Dec. 11—Attacks on Governor Bricker by Mayor F. H. LaGuardia of New York, Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes and President Roosevelt for his handling of the relief situation in Ohio will be answered by the governor Saturday night when he broadcasts over a nation-wide hook-up from New York, Bricker announced today.

Bricker, speaking before the Ohio Society of New York, will devote most of his address on Ohio's government to presenting his side of the relief picture. LaGuardia last week sided with Mayor Harold H. Burton of Cleveland in demanding a special session of the legislature to consider the relief crisis in industrial areas. Ickes also assailed Bricker on the relief situation, while the president devoted the major part of a press conference to a charge that Ohio had failed to do its duty. Bricker throughout contended that Cleveland had not exhausted its own resources, and should make every effort to help itself before calling on the state. The crisis was evoked at least temporarily when the city issued $1,200,000 in bonds in anticipation of collection of delinquent taxes.

LUCASVILLE DRIVER GOES HOME; PASTOR IMPROVES

William Puzins, 28, of Lucasville, driver of the auto that left a curve on Route 23, just north of Gold Cliff Park Friday afternoon, was discharged from Berger Hospital Sunday. He suffered a concussion.

The Rev. J. M. Shepherd of Barboursville, Ky., riding with Puzins, was reported improved Monday. He suffered a skull fracture and broken jaw.

It was Hit or Miss in Grandfather's Day

When your grandfather

needed tobacco he probably went to the tobacconist in his community and had a lot of fun blending different types of tobacco together and trying out the different mixtures:

HE MAY HAVE FINALLY HIT on a combination of tobaccos that was pretty much to his fancy... that tasted all right to him and wasn't too strong. So the tobacconist, with an eye to future business, would make up this private blend and keep some of it on hand for him.

THIS HIT OR MISS METHOD of tobacco blending was never very satisfactory. But it proved one thing to both smokers and manufacturers, that you must have a blend of tobaccos to get better smoking results, because no one tobacco by itself has all the qualities necessary to a good smoke.

THE CHESTERFIELD tobacco buyers select and bid in at the auction sales the tobacco types that best fit the Chesterfield blend, which is the right combination of exactly the right amounts of Maryland, Burley and Bright with just enough Turkish. These tobaccos and the Chesterfield way of blending them make Chesterfield different from any other cigarette.

THAT IS WHY there are millions of enthusiastic Chesterfield smokers clear across the country. They find Chesterfield COOLER, BETTER-TASTING and DEFINITELY Milder... just what they want for real smoking pleasure. You can't buy a better cigarette.

THE GREAT KILLERS
FINLAND, even more clearly than Austria and Czechoslovakia and Poland, shows the real character of these European dictatorships and the perils of democracy. If any tolerant person has been doubtful, he knows now. Ruthless autocrats, crazy for power and as murderous as Ivan the Terrible and Genghis Khan, are loose in a supposedly civilized world. They are far more dangerous than the tyrants and killers of previous ages, because they have the scientific knowledge and machine power of modern civilization to use for assault, murder and enslavement. Hitler has shown, in the lands he has conquered, the kind of slavery the vanquished may expect now in this era of industrialized barbarism. Stalin, long accustomed to native Russian forms of slaughter, has now learned the Hitler and Himmler technique and is proceeding to use it against the most civilized part of continental Europe. There may not be much that Americans can do about this decivilization. But we should at least know what is going on and understand its meaning. For if Europe can be overrun and dragged down in this manner, how can we be sure of safety and continued civilization even in sheltered America?

BRIGHT BOYS MAKE GOOD
THERE has long been a tendency to confuse the college "grind" with the good student and to rate both as less effective citizens than athletic leaders are. Dr. James Rowland Angell, formerly president of Yale University, has facts with which to defend the good student. Dr. Angell has been looking at the records. He turned to the careers of men of the same classes who had been presidents of the Phi Beta Kappa chapter, editors of The Yale News and football captains. The Phi Beta Kappa men and the editors all attained prominent positions, but with two exceptions the football captains reached only average places in life. This should not be a surprising discovery. The good student not only is interested in his studies, but knows how to organize them and how to grasp essentials. He knows how to find additional information when he needs it. He gets his task done without wasting mental or physical energy. After graduation he usually turns the same concentration and directed interest to his career. Honor graduates need not start sneering at football captains, however. The sneerer is rarely a success at anything but sneering, which is not a constructive or satisfying lifework for anybody.

WORLD AT A GLANCE

CONSTANTINE OUMANSKY, the Soviets' diplomatic representative in the United States, is about as popular in Washington as a pet rattlesnake would be. The capital doesn't dislike him for himself alone. Personally he stood fairly well in official and social circles until recently. He tried to be friendly. There was a certain amount of sympathy for him individually, as the local spokesman for a government that he knew we disapproved of — an inclination to let him know we realized he couldn't help being Moscow's resident commissioner for Comrade Stalin. Relations began to be a bit strained, however, when Stalin hooked up with Herr Hitler. We already were on doubtful terms with Berlin. Our embassy was functioning, and still is, at the fuhrer's headquarters, but we hadn't had an ambassador there in about a year. A charge d'affaires was on the job. Germany had no ambassador in Washington, either; that embassy likewise was being run by a German charge d'affaires—Hans Thomsen, who's pretty well liked.

EMPTY EMBASSIES
An ambassador's entitled to go home on a short vacation occasionally, but when two countries' embassies remain for months in the hands of charges d'affaires it begins to look as if they weren't very sympathetic toward one another.

Well, that combination between Stalin and Hitler certainly was regarded as awkward in Washington. Then Comrade Oumansky took a trip home likewise. That was all right—just a little trip. Yet it came at an inopportune time, on account of that concurrent Stalin and Hitler pact. At this juncture our American ship City of Flint was grabbed by the Germans and taken into Russian waters. Our American Ambassador Steinhardt, trying to get news of the incident, was treated very snippily by the Moscow foreign office. The City of Flint got away, but it was plain that we'd been snubbed.

THAT OGPU STORY
Shortly afterward an American weekly of national circulation published an article concerning Comrade Oumansky. In the early days of the Russian revolution Comrade Lenin was the main boss. Oumansky was one of his followers. Later Lenin died. Stalin came into power. Stalin hated the Lenins and began "liquidating" them as fast as possible. He didn't "liquidate" Oumansky, though, because, according to this yarn, Oumansky joined Stalin's OGPU (or secret service) and, turning traitor to his previous associates, helped Stalin to "liquidate" the latter. I don't know whether the story was true or not. Anyway, it placed Oumansky in an invidious position. At that point Oumansky, coming back to the United States, was asked by all American newspapermen what the facts were. I suppose he'd no option but to answer that it would be undignified in him to answer such accusations. Consequently the charge sticks—not a very nice one.

SOVIET ANNIVERSARY
Shortly before his landing in New York from abroad the date arrived for a celebration of the anniversary of the czar's overthrow. The Russian embassy invited everybody of any consequence in Washington to attend, eating caviar and drinking vodka. Those blow-outs at the Soviet embassy used to draw throngs. This last one was an utter fiasco. Official Washington boycotted it utterly. Lots of folks came, but hardly anyone of significance was signified. Next, Oumansky materialized and was greeted clamorously. Officialdom was cool toward him; society was colder. Shortly afterward Russia jumped on Finland. Believe me, this country is pro-Finnish. The Finns have paid their war debts regularly. Finnish Minister Procopce gets a glad hand at the state department. Russian Representative Oumansky gets a cold shoulder. Socially he's "persona non grata," anywhere.

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN
COAST GUARD PURSUED TRAWLERS
WASHINGTON—Nobody is supposed to know it, but there was drama off the harbor of Boston the other day when the Coast Guard was asked by the Justice Department to hold up three New England fishing trawlers being sold to France as mine-sweepers. The vessels were wooden. Germany's new magnetic mines explode whenever a steel ship passes nearby, so wooden ships for use in sweeping them up are at a premium in Europe. Attorney General Murphy telephoned personally asking the Coast Guard to chase the trawlers and detain them if they were still in U. S. waters. However, either it was too late, or else the Coast Guard looked the other way, because the trawlers now are well on their way to France. However, five other vessels purchased by France have been detained, and their transfer has been carefully scrutinized by an inter-departmental committee. One trawler is at New Orleans, two trawlers and a tug are at Boston, and one tug is at Charleston, S. C. All are old vessels, and the Maritime Commission found no American citizens interested in buying them.

ALABAMA AWARD
Reason Attorney General Murphy acted with such speed was the existence of a criminal statute against transferring to any belligerent a vessel which is to be used as a warship. And these trawlers were to become mine-sweepers, i. e., warships. The statute is based on the Civil War case of the famous man-of-war "Alabama", built in English shipyards and turned over to the Confederacy to raid Union commerce. Afterward, the United States was awarded $15,500,000 for damage done to our shipping. Therefore the Justice Department fears that if the trawlers are sold to France, they might damage Nazi vessels, and under international law, the United States could be held responsible.

However, the Maritime Commission and the State Department take a contrary view. They believe that the old wooden vessels could not easily damage German shipping, and that they are to be used to sweep up mines, not prey upon commerce. One trouble is that the French line, which is purchasing the vessels, stated the facts with complete honesty. It listed the ships as mine-sweepers. If they had been listed as "fishing vessels," probably there would have been no hitch in the sale. Note—The trawlers are 139 feet long and were owned by the Portland (Me.) Trawler Company, a subsidiary of the Atlantic Coast Fishery Company. They were built in 1919, are coal-burners and cannot compete with the new Diesel trawlers.

NEW SOLICITOR GENERAL
It's a White House secret, but the one hitch in the elevation of Attorney General (Continued on Page Eight)

ing at football captains, however. The sneerer is rarely a success at anything but sneering, which is not a constructive or satisfying lifework for anybody.

DIET AND HEALTH
It's Tularemia Time Again

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
NEARLY every year at this time we have put in warnings as to the proper prevention of the disease known as tularemia. Tularemia is also called "rabbit fever" or "deer fly fever." Hunters and market men who skin rabbits, birds, etc., are particularly liable to it. It is caused by a germ. The germ affects all forms of wild animal life, particularly rodents, rabbits and ground squirrels. It is called "deer fly fever" because some are also affected. The germ is transmitted by flies. It gets in the circulating blood of animals; flies may suck it in from deer and transmit it to men. It is the "First American Disease," the only disease that belongs exclusively to our continent, and so far as is known has never been discovered outside of North America. It was first described in 1907.

Has Three Forms
It may occur in man in three forms. The usual form is an ulceration on the finger with some enlargement of the lymph nodes of the arm. It is not necessary to have a cut on the skin in order to acquire the disease. It has been proved that rubbing the blood of the animal containing the tularemia germ on the intact skin will produce an ulceration. The second form occurs in the eye. It is easy enough to see how this contamination occurs. A hunter skinning an animal may have an irritation of the eye and rub it, transmitting some of the blood and germs to the conjunctival sac. A third form is a generalized fever, like typhoid fever. Last spring I saw a most unusual form of the disease in a man who had acquired it by skinning fish. This, so far as I know, is the only known case in which a fish was infected.

STARS SAY—

For Monday, December 11
MONDAY's astrological forecast is for stability, security and sound growth, to be obtained by means of hard work, industrious application and sound judgment. These may be required to escape pitfalls, schemes or undercurrents, possibly sinister and unsuspected. But the mentality is equal to this and the impulses worthy. Accordingly, there should be enduring good wrested from treachery and wile.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year crowned by success and just reward for merit, probity and diligence, schemes, plots and malice. Be alert to these and exercise your own fine mentality and sterling qualities should quick-sands threaten. A child born on this day may be industrious, persevering, willing and reliable, yet it may be disposed to use strategy or easy methods if forced to the wall.

"TELL BILL GOODBYE"
By Marie Blizard

SYNOPSIS
THE CHARACTERS:
FABIENNE SEYMOUR, rich, young and beautiful.
NICKY BARTLETT, wealthy and in love with Fabienne.
ELLEN CHAPMAN, young and capable mistress of Willowby house.
DR. BILL MALLORY, close friend of Ellen's.
YESTERDAY: Nicky helps Fabienne take her trunks to Ellen's apartment, where they find Bill waiting for her.
CHAPTER TWENTY-ONE
FABIENNE was reminded of Nicky standing at her elbow when he said to Bill, "You look as if you could handle them single handed. There are three trunks and seven pieces of smaller luggage."
"Righto," Bill answered cheerfully. "Go right on up. I'll have them up in a jiffy."
"Make it snappy," ordered Nicky. "Miss Seymour wishes to leave shortly."
Fabienne listened to this exchange with dismay. Whatever had got into Nicky to behave this way. Suddenly she knew, and she said apologetically, "Dr. Mallory, meet an old friend of mine from home, Nicky Bartlett."
Nicky's well-bred face showed instant chagrin. He'd taken this great, careless fellow to be a superintendent. "Sorry, old man," he said, offering a friendly grin with his hand. "Bad light, you know."
"Forget it," Bill answered, crushing Nicky's hand in his.
Irritated for no good reason, Fabienne said, "Come on upstairs, Nicky. And when they were up in the apartment and Bill was struggling with a trunk at the turn of the stairs, "Why do you say that I was leaving shortly? I'm not going any place."
"But you promised Mirabel you'd see her later."
"I've got a headache, Nicky. Tomorrow's Sunday. We can put it off until then. Besides, I must do a lot of unpacking. Please run along."
"I'll be darned! A few hours ago you were delighted to see me. Now it's 'Please run along, Nicky, my lad.' What's come over you lately, Fab?"
"I'm sorry, Nicky. I do behave badly. But I was glad to see you."
"Fab still loves Nicky?"
"Of course Fab still loves Nicky," she said, looking up at him affectionately, laughingly.
Her face was turned up like a flower. He bent over to kiss her on her cheek. But her mouth was red and tempting. He kissed her once and then again, lingeringly. She tried to push him away, hearing a sound at the door.
Bill Mallory stood in the door frame, looking embarrassed and something else that she was too confused to recognize.
He had seen the kiss, but he had not seen her feeble effort to push Nicky away. He had heard her say that she loved Nicky.
He said, "Sorry, folks, but you'll have to get a park bench until we get the trunks in. Two more coming up." He pulled one in with a yank of a powerful arm and went out again without looking at either of them.
Fabienne looked at the door through which he had passed. Then she turned around to Nicky and her cheeks were pink, her eyes hot. "I've changed my mind, darling. I will go back with you. I'd rather do my unpacking tomorrow. Come along."
To Bill, on the landing, she said, "I'm going with Nicky. Thanks for everything, Bill."
"It's nothing at all. Have a good time," he answered with cool politeness.
After the door closed in back of Nicky and Fabienne, and the big car rolled away smoothly, Bill Mallory sat on the landing step and groped for a pack of cigarettes. He lit one thoughtfully and said, "That's that, my boy."
In the town car Nicky was saying, "You and Cleopatra and your 'infinite variety!' There's one thing about you, Fab, that never fails to fascinate me."
"Yes?" she said absently, her thoughts busy elsewhere.
"Your weather-vane decisions. One minute you will, the next minute you won't, or vice versa. Anyway, I'm glad you decided to come."
"Oh, THAT!" she answered. "I decided my headache wasn't too bad after all." Her statement was a long way from being truthful. She had decided that if she found herself alone in the apartment with Bill Mallory she'd find herself beating that she was not in love with Nicky and the kiss he'd seen didn't mean anything.
And after that little idiotic outburst, she thought, Bill would give her a long look of surprise that plainly said it meant nothing to him and why was she telling him all that.
Oh, no, she didn't intend to let herself in for anything like that. She must be very careful to see Bill only when Ellen was there. A friendly little threesome.
Nicky took her hand and her instinct was to pull it away. Instead, she said to him, "Nicky, I wish you'd try to be fascinating to me."
Nicky gave her a bemused, puzzled glance.
"My heart and my hand, not to mention a few trifling lures and

He who esteems trifles for themselves is a trifler; he who esteems them for conclusions to be drawn from them, or the advantage to which they can be put, is a philosopher.—Bulwer.
Hints on Etiquette
A reader asks where the dessert is placed on the dinner table. The dessert is served as a separate course and is not brought in until the dishes of the main meal are removed. Then it is brought in in individual servings which are placed in front of each person. Or, if it is a cake or pudding, it may be brought in whole with plates or dishes suitable to serve it in, and served by the hostess in individual portions.
Today's Horoscope
As a general thing the next year will be one of steady progress for those whose birthday is today. They will, however, suffer a minor reversal or disappointment in love or domestic affairs. The child born today will be an affectionate, loving personality. Such a one will be artistic, exceedingly musical and intuitive, and possess real genius in art, law or medicine.

SAFETY GIVES BULLDOGS MARGIN OVER BULLIES

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Dec. 11 — The Columbus Bullies of the American Professional Football League today considered the Bulldogs their jinx team after absorbing another beating at the hands of the Los Angeles squad. The 23 to 21 victory yesterday before 8,000 fans was the third the Bulldogs marked up over the Bullies.

A safety in the last minute of play gave the Bulldogs their victory when Bob Davis, Bullies back, intercepted a pass, stepped into the end zone and then out of bounds.

The Bulldogs led, 21 to 7, at the start of the last quarter, but the score was tied up by the fighting Bullies, only to see their spurt nullified by Davis' misstep.

GREEN BAY PUTS 27-0 THUMP ON FOE FROM EAST

32,279 See Packers Whip New York In League's Title Contest

By Jim Gallagher

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Dec. 11—The luck of the Maras finally gave out, and today the New York Giants were headed for home, shorn of glory, championship and reputation.

The Green Bay Packers, gallily breaking training after a tough three-month season, once more are champions of the National Professional Football League — and worthy champions, too, as they proved here yesterday when they defeated and humiliated the Giants, 27 to 0.

The Packers made the 1938 champions look like chumps in the most one-sided game in the six-year history of the playoffs. They proved the Giants couldn't stop the devastating Green Bay aerial attack; they took to the ground and showed they could carry the ball as well as throw it, and as a final insolent touch they beat the Giants at their own game of defensive football.

The 32,279 cash customers packed every inch of space in the expanded state fairgrounds. It was unfortunate that the overflow crowd — which would have numbered 60,000 had there been room—should have seen the worst playoff game since the East-West playoff was instituted in 1933. The Packers were good but Tim Mara's huskies, truth to tell, were awful. Their vaunted ground attack gained only 70 yards; they completed only nine out of 26 passes for 98 yards gained—and they had six passes intercepted by the alert Packers.

Might Be Different

It probably isn't fair to say the Giants didn't belong on the same field with the Packers—the score was only 7 to 0 at halftime and with a few breaks it might have been different—yet, at the end of the game, you had a distinct impression that the Giants were outclassed even more than the score showed.

Charley Brock, Green Bay's freshman center, and Larry Craig, freshman end and blocking back, were the standout men on the field. Brock intercepted two passes that meant touchdowns; he tackled Tuffy Leamans to prevent a score; he passed the ball perfectly and blocked like a demon on defense; he tackled viciously. Craig did a grand job of blocking and was a paragon on defense.

The Packers took the lead in the first quarter when they marched 46 yards with Arny Herber passing to Milt Cantenbein in the end zone for seven yards and the touchdown. In the third period, the Packers moved 38 yards and from the 29-yard stripe. Tiny Engbretsen placekicked a field goal. Seven plays later, following an interception, Cecil Isbell hurled an aerial to Joe Laws, good for 31 yards and a touchdown. That was the play that broke the Giants' spirit.

Ernie Smith Kicks

In the fourth quarter, Ernie Smith kicked a field goal from the 42 after Herber's 31-yard pass to Harry Jacunski had moved the Packers to the Giants' 25-yard marker. Four plays later the irresistible Packers went to the Giants' 15 when Bud Svendsen intercepted another pass and carried to the 15. Four more stabs ended with Eddie Janowski plunging over for the final score.

LOUIS HELPS TO DRAW FREE MILK FUND CROWD

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 — Joe Louis, the heavyweight champion, was listed as guest referee today for some of the final round bouts tonight in the diamond belt amateur boxing tournament conducted by the New York Journal and American for the benefit of the Free Milk Fund for Babies of which Mrs. William Randolph Hearst is president and founder.

A crowd of 20,000 or more, numbering many famous celebrities, was expected. Fifty amateurs, survivors of a field of 1,300 eliminated over the past month, will participate. The winners tonight will be sent to Boston to oppose a bean city team next Monday.

AL HOSTAK AND SEELIG BATTLE IN CLEVELAND

CLEVELAND, Dec. 11—With the middleweight crown at stake, Champion Al Hostak of Seattle and Eric Seelig of New York will battle over the 15-round route tonight at the Cleveland News Christmas Fund Boxing Show.

The welterweight title of Henry Armstrong also will be at stake when the little Negro steps into the ring with Jimmy Garrison.

Tigers To Meet Strong Lancaster Five Tuesday

Circleville High cagers, already suffering from two defeats, move into Lancaster Tuesday evening for a contest that will truly test the Red and Black's fighting ability and conditioning. Word comes from Lancaster that Coach Ray Coleman, with only one veteran from last year's team, is stressing speed and plenty of it. Ray Kiser, tall center, is the only veteran working on this year's crew, but that fact didn't stop the Gales from thumping Columbus West all over the court last Friday night.

Here's what the Lancaster paper has to say about Coleman's charges:

"It was a ragged and befuddled West outfit, the same team that tossed a scare into Hamilton's formidable outfit before bowing to it, 32-25. Lancaster poured it on in the first minute and never let up until the final horn had sounded.

"The Gales, with four rookies in the starting lineup, carried the game to the Buckaroos all the way. Lancaster's boys offset West's superior height and size by never allowing a man to get in front of them on defense and by accelerating their offensive to such a degree that West was lost in the shuffle.

"Lancaster's scoring machine was aided by some fancy pitching on the part of all the players, swishing the nets with some fancy grandstand and circus heaves."

Tigers Go to Work

The Tiger cagers were back at work Monday afternoon raring to go and hoping to improve their game after the McClain debacle last Friday. Failure to cover Miller and Riley at the sides of the court and lack of fight under the basket contributed to the Greenfield loss, so plenty of defensive work is expected. No changes are expected in the Tiger starting lineup of Smith, Walters, Staley and Bowsher, although Jim Callihan, junior forward, showed by his work against Greenfield that a place must be made for him before very long.

Reserves will play at Lancaster, too, the contests being booked

in the high school's spacious gymnasium.

Travel to Chillicothe

Friday evening the Red and Black team open the cage season in Chillicothe with Earl Young's team. Young, for once, is offering no pre-season abilis concerning his quintet, so it can be expected that Chillicothe will be well represented on the hardwood.

BUCKEYE COURT SQUAD TO SEE ACTION TWICE

COLUMBUS, Dec. 11 — Ohio's collegiate cagers today were set for a gala pre-holiday week, scheduling more than 50 games from Monday night through Saturday night.

After this week, however, there will be a letdown until after the Christmas holidays when again the cagers will swing into action until early March.

With two games on the docket, Ohio State University's Western Conference title holders see action for the first time. The Bucks clash with Wabash on Thursday night in the Fairgrounds Coliseum and on Saturday Wooster trades baskets with the Scarlet and Gray five. The Buck reserves played last week, losing to Otterbein 29 to 24.

Xavier, tonight, undertakes a stern test, travelling to Bloomington, Ind., to meet the always tough Indiana quintet. Toledo, during the week, has two double-headers scheduled, opposing Defiance and Albion on Tuesday and Princeton and Tiffin Junior College on Saturday.

LARGE AUDIENCE SEES BOY SCOUTS ADVANCED TO RANKING OF EAGLE

FOUR PICKAWAY DISTRICT BOYS IN CEREMONIAL

OTHER YOUTHS HONORED

Four From Circleville Now
Wear Insignia Designating
Star Classification

A large group of Circleville and Pickaway County folk attended the annual Court of Honor Ceremonial in Memorial Hall, Columbus, Sunday afternoon, when four Scouts of the Pickaway District achieved the top ranking in Scoutdom, that of Eagle Scouts.

Honored were Myron Gearhart, Troop 5 of First Presbyterian Church, Kingston; David Yates and Carl Bach, Troop 107 of First Methodist Church, Circleville, and David Orr, Troop 158 of Howard Hall Post, American Legion, Circleville.

There were 82 Scouts of central Ohio given the Eagle Scout awards. More than 3,000 persons attended the ceremonial of the Central Ohio Area Council.

The Eagle Scout candidates sat with their parents, scoutmasters and friends in the front portion of the auditorium. They stood as Chairman Paul L. Selby of the Scout advancement committee, conducted the "Eagle Scout Creation" ceremony. The Eagle Scout emblems were pinned on the youths by their mothers.

Three Local Members

Three men of the Pickaway District were members of the Court of Honor. They were James I. Smith, Jr., district chairman; the Rev. Robert T. Kelsey, chairman of the district committee on Scout advancement, and Renick Dunlap, Kingston.

Congressman John M. Vorys urged Scouts to be self-reliant and to use their laurels as stepping stones to greater achievements. The speaker said there was too much "hitch hiking" in America today and too many persons are "just riding along."

A musical program was provided by the Kiwanis boys' choir of Columbus. Other features of the program included the parade of colors, pledge of allegiance and group singing.

In addition to the Eagle Scout ceremony a group of Pickaway district Scouts received advancement and merit badges at the Court of Honor.

Others Honored

The advancements in Troop 158 of the American Legion included William Ebert, Don Goodchild, Lloyd Jones and William Kocken-sperger, advanced to Star Scouts; David Orr, senior patrol leader certificate; and merit badges were awarded in agriculture and auto-mobiling to William Ebert, path-finding, and 12 to Paul Burtner in varied tests.

Advancements in Troop 205 of the Circleville Presbyterian Church included Carl Jenkins, advanced to Star Scout and merit badges to James Sensenbrenner, cycling and cooking; and Carl Jenkins, cycling, animal industry, swimming and firemanship.

Scoutmasters of the troops in which advancements were made are Troop 5, Kingston, Chester Mullins; Troop 107, Circleville, Ervin Leist; Troop 158; Paul Burtner, and Troop 205, Dr. F. C. Schaeffer.

GOTHAM POLICE SEEK PUGILIST IN NAZI DEATH

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 — Police today intensified the search for Ernie Haas, a pugilist, sought for questioning in connection with the murder of Dr. Walter Engelberg, first secretary of the German consulate here.

A man identifying himself as Haas telephoned a gymnasium Saturday, stating he knew he was "in a jam" and promising to "come in," but he never appeared, according to police. Haas was believed to have visited Dr. Engelberg shortly before the German attaché was bludgeoned to death in his house in Brooklyn last Tuesday.

Presidential Hopefuls

The Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

Murphy to the Supreme Court vacancy has been solved.

This was finding the right man to step into Bob Jackson's shoes as Solicitor General when he moved up to Murphy's place as Attorney General. The President has found his man.

He is Judge Francis Biddle of the U. S. Court of Appeals of Philadelphia, chairman of the Old National Labor Board and counsel of the 1937 TVA investigating committee of Congress. In the long history of the federal judiciary, few appeals judges have stepped down from their $12,500 lifetime jobs to re-enter public life, particularly at a lower salary. The Solicitor General gets $10,000 a year.

But Biddle, age 53, and one of the most brilliant court lawyers in the country, is willing. So he has accepted Roosevelt's offer to succeed Jackson. The three appointments will not be announced until Congress meets in January.

ANNENBERG TRIAL

Some queer things seem to be happening in the famous Annenberg $5,000,000 income tax case—probably the biggest income tax case of all times.

Though the trial is just beginning, apparently there is going to be no trial. The battery of stenographers and law clerks on each side who were preparing the case are now looking for other jobs. E. Riley Campbell, Treasury Department specialist helping to handle the case, is headed for a vacation in the Ozarks. Weymouth Kirkland, crack Annenberg attorney, sits at ease in the courtroom while his assistants make minor motions.

Everything points to an arrangement whereby the big race track publisher will ease out of the picture with a minimum of headaches.

One of the most significant developments is the fact that certain underworld characters, who hitherto have not talked regarding other phases of Chicago gambling, now are talking. Their conversation pertains to the operations of Billy Skidmore, king of the gambling fraternity and close ally of the Kelly-Nash machine. Skidmore already is indicted for income tax evasion, and it looks as if word had been passed down the line that he was to be put on the altar to appease public opinion, instead of Moe Annenberg.

NO DEAL MURPHY

These developments have been a source of worry to the Justice Department. For if there is an arrangement to let Annenberg down easily, Frank Murphy doesn't know about it. Twice, Annenberg Attorney Kirkland has come to Washington to suggest that the Justice Department join in a plea for clemency. But Murphy has declined. In fact, he has given instructions to his district attorney, William Campbell, to press the court for a jail sentence.

The Justice Department's attitude is that if Democratic Boss Pendergast in Kansas City got 15

Large Buck Deer Moves Through County District

A large buck deer, the first reported in Pickaway County in many years, made its appearance Sunday near Circleville.

The deer was first seen Sunday morning by Patrolman Fred Fitzpatrick and Jacob Hunsinger, janitor at the city building.

The two city employees took a load of hoboos out of town. When passing the Phillips farm, just south of the city, they noticed the deer. The buck was feeding in some blue grass near the highway and trotted back toward some stock on the farm.

On returning to Circleville they notified Clarence Francis, county conservation officer, about the deer. He watched the deer run northward toward Circleville and to the Crites farm, just south of the city. There it was lost from view along a hedge fence.

No additional reports of the deer were received until Sunday evening when Dr. V. D. Kerns reported the deer crossed Route 56 near the Kingston Pike. The deer was traveling northward at that time.

Mr. Francis said the deer is the first reported in Pickaway County since he has been conservation officer. That covers a period of 10 years.

He believes the buck escaped from the Roosevelt game preserve near Portsmouth. Mr. Francis warned county folk that there is a heavy penalty for killing deer in Ohio.

A large deer, which may be the same one, was seen near Kingston by William Friece, Circle City dairy employee, the latter part of last week.

U. S. FINANCES FINN EXPORTS

At War With Soviet

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—The United States added material support to its moral aid of the Finnish cause today by agreeing to finance $10,000,000 of exports to Finland.

Credits in this amount are being made available to the Finnish-American Trading Corporation by the Export-Import bank. The money will be used to ship agricultural and other vital supplies to Finland. None of the money may be expended for implements of war.

The corporation, set up by Hjalmar Procope, the Finnish minister to the United States, has a paid-in capital stock of $1,000,000 and the Bank of Finland or the Finnish government, stand back of its operations. Finnish officials conceded that one of the big problems will be the transporting of goods to Finland.

Soviet Russia has served notice that its warships are now blockading Finland. American ships still are free to travel to Finnish ports in the Arctic. Procope indicated that the goods probably would be shipped to some port in Norway or Sweden and transhipped to Finland by rail. American ships are permitted to touch at Norway north of Bergen, under the recently-adopted war-zone regulations.

U. S. GRAND JURY TO PUSH PROBE OF PASSPORTS

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 — Continuance of the federal grand jury investigation of fraudulent passports was expected today to continue on a wider front as a result of the arrest at Bend, Ore., of Nicholas Dozenberg, identified by government agents as a high ranking member of the Communist leadership.

Dozenberg, who waived extradition and was held in $50,000 bail, was expected to be brought to New York within the next 10 days. With his arrest, the federal government now has in custody three of the party leaders, the others being Earl R. Browder, No. 1 man, and Robert W. Wiener, financial secretary.

The whereabouts of Dozenberg's wife, Katherin, who was named in the complaint with him remained a mystery. A sealed indictment believed to name other persons suspected of aiding in operation of a Communist passport mill was still on file in federal court. The October grand jury, held over to continue the passport probe, resumed today.

VOLS AND TEXAS HAVE CHANCE TO PROVE STRENGTH

By Lawton Carver

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 — Tennessee and Texas A. and M. presumably two of the great football teams of the last decade or so are about to get a chance to prove it beyond further rebuttal. If Tennessee, with its perfect record—unmarred by even so little as a point for the opposition—can turn back Southern California in the Rose Bowl and Texas A. and M. can accomplish a similar end against Tulane in the Sugar Bowl in the two headline New Year's Day spectacles, these results must bring to a lasting conclusion speculation on the merits of the so-called volunteers and the Aggies.

Tennessee played a miserable schedule by contrast with what other leading elevens had to face, but the Tennesseans seemed to indicate that they could have handled just about anything thrown at them, with 10 victories for the season and 23 in a row since last beaten. The Texans also won 10 straight starts on a much tougher schedule than Tennessee's, and allowed the opposition 18 points.

Here is the New Year's Day program of major attractions with the favorites named first and the probable betting odds:

Rose Bowl, Pasadena, Cal. — Southern California, 6-5, vs. Tennessee.

Sugar Bowl, New Orleans — Texas A. and M., 6-5, vs. Tulane.

Orange Bowl, Miami — Missouri, 7-5, vs. Georgia Tech.

Cotton Bowl, Dallas, Tex. — Boston College vs. Clemson, 6 to 5 and take your pick.

Sun Bowl, El Paso, Tex. — Arizona State, 7-5, vs. Catholic University of Washington, D. C.

TROJANS TO VIE IN BOWL AFTER EVADING DEFEAT

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 11 — Southern California's battered Trojans, after one tie and one win Saturday with the surprising U. C. L. A. Bruins, started a week of welcome rest today before hitting the trail to the Pasadena Rose Bowl for their New Year's bout with Tennessee.

The Trojans, with a casualty list that looks worse than a communique from the Western Front, were held to a scoreless tie by the Bruins—in fact, just barely staved off defeat—but went on to win the bowl bid in the balloting of the ten conference member schools.

U. S. C. wound up the regular season with no defeats and two ties, while the Bruins also were undefeated but tied three times in the conference and once out. But those amazing Bruins, picked to finish nowhere at the start of the season and 2 to 1 underdogs against U. S. C., just about slipped the skids under the famous Trojans, and they had plenty of witnesses, in fact 104,000, the biggest grid crowd anywhere this fall.

Dozenberg, who waived extradition and was held in $50,000 bail, was expected to be brought to New York within the next 10 days. With his arrest, the federal government now has in custody three of the party leaders, the others being Earl R. Browder, No. 1 man, and Robert W. Wiener, financial secretary.

The whereabouts of Dozenberg's wife, Katherin, who was named in the complaint with him remained a mystery. A sealed indictment believed to name other persons suspected of aiding in operation of a Communist passport mill was still on file in federal court. The October grand jury, held over to continue the passport probe, resumed today.

Pedestrians Victims In Ohio Cities During Week End; Student Struck Down

By International News Service
A terrific crash of two automobiles near Frankfort, west of Chillicothe, Sunday, had resulted today in deaths of two persons and injury of four others.

Dead were Mrs. Elias McBee, Springfield, and Newton Nance, Kitts Hill, Lawrence County. The injured included Mrs. McBee's husband, their grandson, Robert Herzog and Mr. Nance's daughter, Mrs. Ruth Sloan, and J. W. Hardy of Jeffersonville, the latter two riding in the other car.

The Chillicothe hospital said McBee had a crushed chest, Herzog severe bruises, Hardy a broken nose and Mrs. Sloan cuts and bruises.

The state highway patrol, which investigated, said that the car in which Nance was riding skidded into the McBee automobile's path.

At least 11 Ohio persons met death in week end traffic mishaps, a survey disclosed today. Seven victims were pedestrians who were struck down on city streets or highways. Four were killed instantly or injured fatally in automobile collisions.

Lyle Meeker, 21, of Scioto County, was fatally injured and three companions were hurt when their car skidded on wet pavement at Lynx, Adams County, and collided with the automobile of George Grogan, Huntington, W. Va.

Coroner Investigates
The highway patrol said no arrests would be made pending a coroner's inquiry.

Injuries suffered when he was struck down by an automobile proved fatal to Joseph Dalley, 72, Cincinnati. Dalley was a native of Ireland.

Mrs. Margaret Shaw, 64, Cincinnati, died from injuries suffered when she was struck by a taxicab.

Mrs. Lulu Schneider, 54, Cincinnati, died in St. Marys Hospital after being hit by an automobile. Seventeen-year-old Richard Jones, Columbus East High School student, was struck down and killed.

EFFORTS TO SAVE CANCER VICTIM PROVE FRUITLESS

CINCINNATI, Dec. 11 — Although physicians tried to save her life through frozen sleep treatments, Mrs. April Davis, 18, Richmond, Ind., was dead today, a victim of cancer.

Physicians said her case was too far advanced for aid from even the medical profession's latest and most effective weapon against cancer.

Because of Mrs. Davis' weakened condition, periods of frozen sleep were maintained only for from six to eight hours—instead of from five to six days as is customary.

Voluntary contributions in several Richmond churches enabled Mrs. Davis to come to Cincinnati's Jewish Hospital for the treatment.

Stock Association Has Best Month in History

The Pickaway Livestock Association enjoyed the largest volume of business in its history during November, it was revealed Saturday night at the meeting of directors of the association held in the Farm Bureau Home.

During the month 115 cars of livestock were handled. Shipments included 5,975 head of stock with a total weight of 1,729,620 pounds. The list included 4,116 hogs weighing 843,050 pounds, 1,010 cattle weighing 787,720 pounds, 61 feeder calves weighing 21,825 pounds, 266 calves weighing 42,420 pounds and 522 sheep weighing 34,605 pounds. There were 785 consigners of stock.

Previous high shipments of the association were 99 carloads of stock in December 1936 and 98 carloads in December 1937. Indications are that there will be heavy shipments of stock this month, officials said. The association has been in business since 1921.

Harry J. Briggs, service manager of the Farm Bureau, said the increased volume in local shipments is in line with national conditions. Reports received by Mr. Briggs show that 4,500,000 hogs were marketed in United States last month, an increase of 13 percent over the same month last year. The volume was six percent ahead of the average for the period from 1929 to 1933.

6,000 SCHOOLBOYS JOIN FINNS' DEFENSE ARMY

STOCKHOLM, Dec. 11—Six thousand Finnish schoolboys, too young to serve with the regular army, have enrolled as volunteers to battle the Russian forces invading Finland, Elias Erkko, former Finnish foreign minister and now minister to Sweden, said today.

Many of these youths, he said, already have given their lives for their country.

DRAFT WHEELER MOVE STARTED

Colorado Solon Voices His Plan As Garner Friends Open His Campaign

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—A "draft Wheeler" note was injected today into administration's family quarrel over choice of a successor to President Roosevelt, as backers of Vice-President John Nance Garner prepared to formally launch his campaign for the Democratic nomination.

Senator Edwin C. Johnson, of Colorado, urged his Democratic colleagues to stop quarreling over Mr. Roosevelt's successor and pick a 1940 winner by nominating Senator Burton K. Wheeler, of Montana. Johnson said it was "silly" to attempt to draft Mr. Roosevelt against his will and that Wheeler's great liberal record would insure victory for the Democrats next year.

The Garner forces, meanwhile, disclosed they will formally launch his campaign Thursday night, when E. B. Germany, leader of the Garner movement in Texas, makes

SCHOOL SENIOR KILLS HIS GIRL, TAKES POISON

CHARLES CITY, Ia., Dec. 11—Warner Blewett, 17, president of the senior class at Colwell, Ia., high school, was reported recovering in a Charles City hospital today of strychnine taken after allegedly killing his sweetheart, Dorothy Carter, 15, president of the freshman class in the same school.

Blewett purportedly told Chickasaw County officials today that he brought the girl to Charles City to a motion picture show last night, bought her a candy bar, and drove into the country. At a point near Colwell he assertedly said, he told her to "look at that fire over there."

When the girl turned her head, officers said, Blewett fired a shotgun at her, the charge grazing her neck. The youth then allegedly struck her over the head with the butt of the gun and threw her into a ditch.

KENNEDY FINDS NO EXCUSE FOR U. S. IN STRIFE

BOSTON, Dec. 11—The United States would not be justified on any grounds in entering the European war in the opinion of Joseph P. Kennedy, ambassador to England, today.

"This is not our war, we must stay out of it," Kennedy told a Boston audience in his first public appearance since he returned to the United States on vacation. "There is no justification—economically, socially, financially or politically for the United States entering this war. There is no place in it for us. Every statement to the contrary could be met with this question: 'Why should we?'"

Volunteer Italians Seen On Streets Of Helsinki; Hangee Being Bombed

By International News Service
Finland, putting up a desperate struggle against titanic Russia, still held the international spotlight today as the Finnish high command claimed to have repelled a new series of land, sea and air attacks.

Moscow, however, announced in a communique that Red army troops had advanced between three and four miles on all fronts, capturing four more Finnish towns.

Unofficial Finnish sources, however, estimated that the Russians have lost 25,000 men on the Karelian Front alone since the hostilities began.

200,000 Deer Removed
At Copenhagen the newspaper National Tidende said powerful searchlights were flooding the battlefield at Petsamo in the Far North, where heavy fighting took place in the Arctic twilight. The paper reported that 15,000 civilians and 200,000 reindeer have been evacuated from the Petsamo area.

Unofficial reports said that the Finnish air forces, aided by experienced Italian pilots and supported by Finnish artillery, bombed and annihilated an entire column of Russian tanks and armored cars.

At the same time, following naval bombardments of Finland's southern coast, Soviet warplanes unleashed a mass bombing attack against the Finnish fortified port of Hangoe.

ANTI-POLITICS LAW MAY BE EXTENDED BY HATCH

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—Senator Hatch (D) New Mexico, revealed today that he wants the current act forbidding federal employees, except those holding policymaking positions, from engaging in political practices, to include certain state agencies that administer federal funds.

Hatch is author of the anti-politics act which also prohibits the use of relief funds for political purposes.

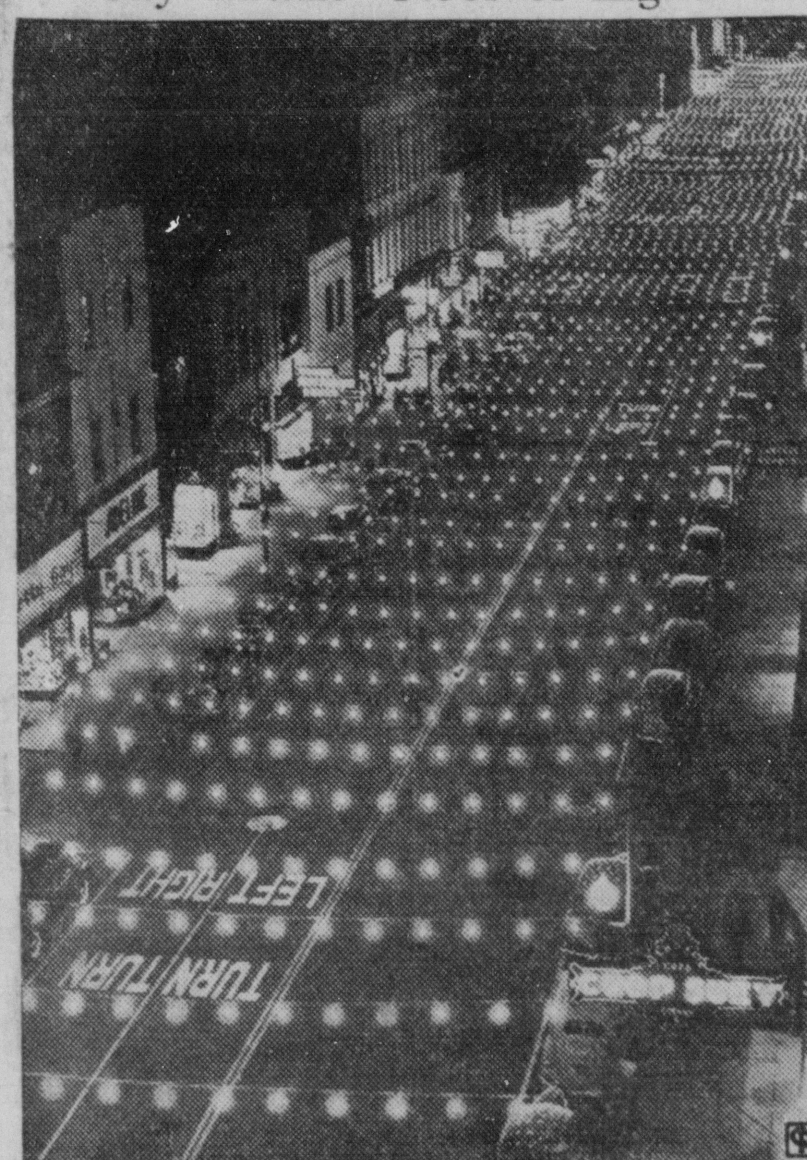

The move to expand the act to include thousands of state-federal employees was held significant in view of the 1940 political campaigns and the widespread opposition that has developed against the law, passed at the last regular session of congress.

COLUMBUS WOMAN HURT IN ROUTE 104 MISHAP

Mrs. Ray Carlson, Second Avenue, Columbus, was treated by Dr. R. S. Hosler, Ashville, Saturday afternoon, for a knee injury received when the car in which she was riding with her husband skidded on a curve on Route 104 and struck a guard rail. The accident happened about 3:30 o'clock about five and a half miles south of the Franklin County line.

The accident was investigated by Corporal D. D. Nicholas and Patrolman W. B. Lytle of the state highway patrol.

City Installs "Roof of Light"

A two-block long roof or ceiling of 25-watt lights has been installed over the main downtown business area of Danville, Ill. DR. TULLOSS OF POSTAL FIGURES WITTENBERG ON SHOW ANOTHER WAY TO O. S. U.? CLIMB IN CITY

COLUMBUS, Dec. 11—As Ohio State University's trustees met once more to attempt to agree on a new president, the name of Dr. Rees E. Tulloss, now president of Wittenberg college, today entered the list of presidential possibilities.

Several of the seven trustees were said to be favorable to naming Dr. Tulloss to succeed President George Rightmire who resigned over a year ago. Recently Dr. Tulloss offered to resign as head of Wittenberg, but the trustees rejected the resignation.

He is a native of Lepsic, Putnam County, and head of a Springfield bank.

There was no assurance that an agreement would be reached by the Ohio State trustees at today's meeting. Besides Dr. Tulloss, they were considering Dr. Wilson Compton, George Washington University, and Dr. James Grover McDonald, Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences.

GERMANS WATCH LEAGUE CONFAB WITH INTEREST

BERLIN, Dec. 11—Nazi Germany today officially disclaimed authorship of the latest European peace move reported in Amsterdam but at the same time turned significant attention to the League of Nations assembly meeting in Geneva, where Soviet Russia is "on trial" for her invasion of Finland.

Germany is not a member of the league, and that body's recent activities have been scorned or ignored by the Reich.

But for the present session, a veritable army of German newspaper correspondents is present in the Swiss city, a fact of considerable importance in itself.

In addition, authentic spokesmen declared that on this occasion, Germany is "closely watching" the league session and will undoubtedly take careful note of any activity by neutral nations "which is outspokenly unneutral."

Londoners Admit More Freighters Mined

COPENHAGEN, Dec. 11 — Grave fears were felt today for the safety of 185 passengers, many of them Polish refugees, aboard the 1,181-ton steamer Estonia, which left Tallinn on Saturday and has not been heard from since.

The vessel was due at Stockholm at noon yesterday.

It was feared the steamer had either struck a mine and sunk or had been captured by German or Russian warships.

BERLIN, Dec. 11 — The small Estonian steamer Kassari was shelled and sunk by an unidentified submarine near the mouth of the Gulf of Finland, the Berlin radio reported today from Tallinn, Estonia. One member of the crew was missing and two others were wounded by gunfire.

LONDON, Dec. 11—British authorities announced the loss of another British freighter today and at the same time said hope had been abandoned for four more ships which were so long overdue at their destinations that they were considered lost.

It was stated that the British freighter Willowpool had struck a mine and sunk. Thirty-six members of the 4,815-ton vessel's crew were landed at an East Coast port.

The vessels which were given up as lost were the 4,222-ton Ashlea, the 4,516-ton Newton Beach, the 8,196-ton Huntsman and the 5,299-ton Trevanion, all of them freighters. The Huntsman, a large cargo vessel, had been reported sunk last week.

15 Lost in Week

At the same time authorities disclosed that during the week ended December 9, Great Britain lost seven ships totalling 33,518 tons, neutrals lost eight ships totalling 26,612 tons. These figures represented the third highest losses for a single week since the beginning of the war.

British authorities today scouted a German claim that two British tankers aggregating 18,000 tons have been added to the toll of British vessels sent to the bottom.

TEXAS TAX LAW WINS FAVOR OF SUPREME COURT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—The Supreme Court today held constitutional the Texas corporation franchise tax law of Texas as construed to tax the Ford Motor Company $7,529 for the year 1936.

Under the formula laid down by the Texas law, Ford Motor Company capital was allocated to the state for tax purposes by basing it upon the proportion of receipts from Texas business as compared to total business.

The effect, the motor company contended, was to tax capital actually employed in other states. The company contended that the proper tax for the year was $1,224.

Soviet Uses Force From Cold Region

Helsinki Reports Reds Sending Polish Captives Ahead Of Troops

HELSINGFORS, Dec. 11 — Reinforced by rugged mid-Asiatic tribesmen from the wild Russian steppes, Soviet troops launched a general offensive against Finland in all the battle areas today.

The tribesmen were sent into action against the Finns because they are better able than regular Soviet troops to withstand the intense cold in Finland's Arctic regions.

In addition, reports from Stockholm charged that the Russians were using Polish prisoners as advance guards and shields, sending both men and women captives ahead of the regular army to explode mines at the risk of their own lives and clear the way for mechanized troops in their rear.

The Russians used motorized units, tanks and airplanes in the renewed onslaught, military headquarters said, attacking all along Finland's eastern border from Petsamo in the Far North to the Carelian Isthmus in the South.

Before the new offensive began, it was announced that Finnish troops had counter-attacked north of Lake Ladoga, recapturing the strategic town of Suomisalmi which lies on the path of Russia's reported route to Ulaaborg on the Gulf of Bothnia in a campaign to cut Finland in two.

Prior to the new advance, there had been no aerial activity during the morning due to heavy fog and temperatures as low as 10 degrees above zero. The whole country was blanketed in white frost.

News of the Finnish victory at Suomisalmi was received with joy in Helsinki, as it was believed to presage a Finnish drive designed to envelop large Russian forces in that area.

'WIRE TAPPING' FROWNED ON IN COURT'S DECREE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 — In a condemnation of "wire tapping" which broadened previous rulings, the Supreme Court today held that the federal government cannot use evidence obtained by this means in a criminal trial.

The court further ruled that interception of intrastate — as well as interstate — messages is illegal. In one "wire tapping" decision, the court divided 6 to 1 with Justice McReynolds dissenting and Justice Reed not participating. Its second decision was unanimous.

The court, which had previously ruled that the Federal Communications Act of 1934 barred tapping of interstate messages, was called upon for the second time to review conviction of Frank C. Nardone, Nathan W. Hoffman and Robert Gottfried.

Paul Bowers, senior of Ashville High School and son of Mrs. Ona Bowers of Ashville, won first place Sunday night in the Pickaway County Prince of Peace Contest held in the First United Brethren Church.

Second place winner was Mary Jane Bowers, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Bowers, South Court Street. Miss Bowers is a senior in Circleville High School.

Paul Bowers will represent Pickaway County in the district contest to be held during January. Details concerning the district contest have not been completed.

Six in Competition
There were six contestants in the Sunday night event. In addition to those who took first and second places the others who participated were Kathryn Martin of Pickaway Township School, Rose Mary Clark of Williamsport School, Tom Duvall of Commercial Point School and David Hilyard, Circleville High School. Circleville had two contestants due to the number participating in the city contest.

Judges were Prof. A. E. Weiser of Canal Winchester, Harold K. Costlow, superintendent of New Holland Schools, and Mrs. Costlow. A large crowd attended the contest, conducted in connection with the regular church service.

The county contest was in charge of a committee consisting of the Rev. H. O. Harbaugh of Ashville, R. S. Lawrence of Commercial Point, D. H. Householder of Williamsport, C. F. Bowman of Circleville and Myron T. Johnson, superintendent of Pickaway Township Schools.

ASHVILLE Ashville, Phone 79 By S. D. Fridley

Little Don Hedges, 18 months, son of Roger and Mrs. Hedges just East of town, is home now and getting along fine. He had been at Mt. Carmel Hospital for a couple of weeks recovering from an empyema operation, so the doctor called it. Mrs. Rose Hedges at the same home and abed for a couple of weeks a victim of grippe, is able to be up part time.

Theodore Boor, our local inventor of no mean ability, told us that his "around the corner new fangled" land breaking plow is working to perfection and that his demonstration a few days ago, was well attended by many interested farmers.

That Santa Claus getting killed stuff was a mistake. He's sent word to headquarters here that the Ashville and community children will be well cared for and that he expects to be here and attend to it himself. Don't know the exact date and hour but will let us know very soon, he said.

Tuesday evening is joint Ashville-Harrison School board meeting at the school office. The best part of the business transacted, to the teachers, is the pay check allowance. The Holiday vacation period is December 22-Jan. 2,—last and first school days.

Wednesday, for more practice, we have with us again that bunch of fine school kiddies from the high schools all over the county. And we were so favorably impressed with their behavior when here a few days ago, that we hope to see more of them in action.

The musical is the night following this practice at the local school auditorium.

That Harry Pontius toe which has been causing lots of worry for both its owner and Doctor Gardner for the last couple of weeks, was removed by Dr. Elliott Peters at his operating office in Columbus Saturday. Mr. Pontius is resting as comfortably as can be expected at his home here.

Thrills in "Barricade"

IN a remote American consulate somewhere in Northern China Alice Faye and Warner Baxter are besieged by a savage horde of Mongolian marauders. The film is 20th Century-Fox's startling drama at the Grand Theatre, "Barricade." Right, Alice Faye as she appears in the film co-starred with Warner Baxter.

British King in Visit To Front Line District

By Kenneth T. Downs

With The French Armies on the Western Front, Dec. 11 — King George VI of England on Saturday visited one of the hottest sectors of the Western Front where within range of the Germans he inspected part of the British Expeditionary Force now installed there.

This can be revealed today now that the British monarch has ended his tour of the front-line positions and has returned to London.

Accompanied by General Lord Gort, commander of the British forces, and General Marie Gustav Gamelin, commander-in-chief of the Allied armies, the king spent the entire day at the front with-in easy range of German artillery at all times.

He visited fortresses of the Maginot Line, lunched at one of them, and then went to an observation post beyond the Maginot Line where with glasses he viewed the first enemy positions about five miles away.

The program was carried out in utmost secrecy and even the small group of accredited French, British and American correspondents who met the monarch received sealed orders at dawn.

Planes Grounded
The most elaborate precautions were taken against a sudden air attack on the regions visited by the king. These measures, however, proved unnecessary because lowering gray clouds kept planes grounded throughout the day.

The king and the generals set a fast pace, although wading ankle-deep in mud. By noon they had made inspections of B. E. F. units at three different places.

The British Tommies looked fit and tough in their full war uniforms, which included a new type of leather jerkins and short gaiters, with loose trousers resembling ski trousers.

The king visited one monster Maginot fortress and then lunched in another. On emerging from a side-hill fortress entrance, his majesty bestowed a D. S. O. on a French colonial officer and a distinguished Flying Cross on a little blond French pilot. Gen. Gamelin pinned a Croix De Guerre on the breast of a slim, red-haired Royal Air Force aviator.

Half-way down the hill the king and his party stood at the side of a road and reviewed units of British and French infantry led by a splendid Maginot Line band which in its muddy shoes and war gear looked considerably different than when I saw it last on the Champs Elysees in Paris on July 14.

SHUMAKER HEADS ROAD DEPARTMENT'S DIVISION 6

J. Perry Shumaker of Columbus, who has been assistant division engineer in charge of construction in the highway department, today had been appointed director of Division No. 6 to succeed Grover Clements. Clements was recently appointed by Floyd Green, Columbus mayor-elect, to his cabinet.

Shumaker, who made many friends in Circleville during construction of the Route 22 improvement, west of the city, will be in charge of Pickaway, Fayette, Madison, Delaware, Union, Morrow and Marion Counties.

SCHOOLS TO JOIN IN SEAL DRIVE

Pupils Of City And County Asked To Purchase Tiny Stamps Next Friday

School children of Circleville and Pickaway County will participate Friday in the Christmas seal sale campaign, sponsored by the Pickaway County Public Health League. Announcement of participation was made by Frank Fischer, superintendent of Circleville schools, and George D. McDowell, who heads the schools of the county.

"We are asking pennies from all school children who can afford to give," Miss Elizabeth Dunlap, executive secretary of the Health League, said.

"It is important to interest students in the anti-tuberculosis campaign," Mr. Fischer said. "They represent the group in which lies our greatest hope for the control of the disease. Considerably more than half of all deaths from tuberculosis occur in the years between 15 and 45. By intensifying our educational activities in this group, by using tried preventive methods such as tuberculin testing, many breakdowns from tuberculosis may be averted."

Seals are being mailed and delivered to each school.

THEATRES

AT THE CLIFTONA

A cross section of humanity woven around the life of a brilliant lawyer who would rather devote his life to dispensing justice in a small-town than win city headlines is presented in Republic's "Main Street Lawyer," which comes Wednesday to the Cliftona theatre.

Edward Ellis portrays Abraham Lincoln Boggs, District Attorney of Corinthia, a small New England town.

His opportunity for fame comes when Tony Marco, indicted big-town racketeer, has his lawyer secure a change of venue, so that he will be tried in Corinthia. Marco has a letter proving that the girl known as Ellis' daughter was actually born in jail and adopted by the attorney, who raised her as his own.

How the small town attorney manages to outwit the big time racketeer at his own game, forms one of the exciting highlight sequences of the picture.

The picture is rich with drama, and replete with thrills. Harold Huber plays Marco, while other leading roles are handled by Clem Bevans, Margaret Hamilton, Willard Robertson, Robert Baldwin, Beverly Roberts, and Henry Kolker.

CAVALCADE OF AMERICA

The Cavalcade of America, combining authentic history with the appeal of the country's best-sellers as written by the program's new historical advisers, Marquis James and Carl Carmer, will take to the air early in January. Through the literary magic and authoritative research of Carmer and James, once more America's great and their anonymous satellites will move across the radio stage with their ships and squirrel rifles and ringing rails as James painted them in Andrew Jackson and Carmer in Listen For a Lonesome Drum.

The new Cavalcade starts on January 2, on 96 stations of the National Broadcasting Company every Tuesday night, and the first story it will tell is the tale of Amerigo Vespucci, who gave his name to a great continent, starting a historical controversy that has raged for hundreds of years. The story of Vespucci will begin a series of chapters, given in chronological order, to tell the story of America through the lives of her most vibrant characters. They will be brought to life by historians whose ability to make them live has already been demonstrated in fields outside radio.

Governor To Broadcast At Ohio Banquet And Answer Relief Questioners

COLUMBUS, Dec. 11—Attacks on Governor Bricker by Mayor F. H. LaGuardia of New York, Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes and President Roosevelt for his handling of the relief situation in Ohio will be answered by the governor Saturday night when he broadcasts over a nation-wide hook-up from New York, Bricker announced today.

Bricker, speaking before the Ohio Society of New York, will devote most of his address on Ohio's government to presenting his side of the relief picture.

LaGuardia last week sided with Mayor Harold H. Burton of Cleveland in demanding a special session of the legislature to consider the relief crisis in industrial areas. Ickes also assailed Bricker on the relief situation, while the president devoted the major part of a press conference to a charge that Ohio had failed to do its duty. Bricker throughout contended that Cleveland had not exhausted its own resources, and should make every effort to help itself before calling on the state. The crisis was averted at least temporarily when the city issued $1,200,000 in bonds in anticipation of collection of delinquent taxes.

LUCASVILLE DRIVER GOES HOME; PASTOR IMPROVES

William Puzines, 28, of Lucasville, driver of the auto that left a curve on Route 23, just north of Gold Cliff Park Friday afternoon, was discharged from Berger Hospital Sunday. He suffered a concussion.

The Rev. J. M. Shepherd of Barbersville, Ky., riding with Puzines, was reported improved Monday. He suffered a skull fracture and broken jaw.

It was Hit or Miss in Grandfather's Day

When your grandfather needed tobacco he probably went to the tobacconist in his community and had a lot of fun blending different types of tobacco together and trying out the different mixtures.

HE MAY HAVE FINALLY HIT on a combination of tobaccos that was pretty much to his fancy... that tasted all right to him and wasn't too strong. So the tobacconist, with an eye to future business, would make up this private blend and keep some of it on hand for him.

THIS HIT OR MISS METHOD of tobacco blending was never very satisfactory. But it proved one thing to both smokers and manufacturers, that you must have a blend of tobaccos to get better smoking results, because no one tobacco by itself has all the qualities necessary to a good smoke.

THE CHESTERFIELD tobacco buyers select and bid in at the auction sales the tobacco types that best fit the Chesterfield blend, which is the right combination of exactly the right amounts of Maryland, Burley and Bright with just enough Turkish. These tobaccos and the Chesterfield way of blending them make Chesterfield different from any other cigarette.

THAT IS WHY there are millions of enthusiastic Chesterfield smokers clear across the country. They find Chesterfield COOLER, BETTER-TASTING and DEFINITELY Milder... just what they want for real smoking pleasure. You can't buy a better cigarette.

THE GREAT KILLERS

FINLAND, even more clearly than Austria and Czechoslovakia and Poland, shows the real character of these European dictatorships and the perils of democracy.

If any tolerant person has been doubtful, he knows now. Ruthless autocrats, crazy for power and as murderous as Ivan the Terrible and Genghis Khan, are loose in a supposedly civilized world.

They are far more dangerous than the tyrants and killers of previous ages, because they have the scientific knowledge and machine power of modern civilization to use for assault, murder and enslavement.

Hitler has shown, in the lands he has conquered, the kind of slavery the vanquished may expect now in this era of industrialized barbarism. Stalin, long accustomed to naive Russian forms of slaughter, has now learned the Hitler and Himmler technique and is proceeding to use it against the most civilized part of continental Europe.

There may not be much that Americans can do about this decivilization. But we should at least know what is going on and understand its meaning. For if Europe can be overrun and dragged down in this manner, how can we be sure of safety and continued civilization even in sheltered America?

BRIGHT BOYS MAKE GOOD

THERE has long been a tendency to confuse the college "grind" with the good student and to rate both as less effective citizens than athletic leaders are. Dr. James Rowland Angell, formerly president of Yale University, has facts with which to defend the good student.

Dr. Angell has been looking at the records. He turned to the careers of men of the same classes who had been presidents of the Phi Beta Kappa chapter, editors of The Yale News and football captains. The Phi Beta Kappa men and the editors all attained prominent positions, but with two exceptions the football captains reached only average places in life.

This should not be a surprising discovery. The good student not only is interested in his studies, but knows how to organize them and how to grasp essentials. He knows how to find additional information when he needs it. He gets his task done without wasting mental or physical energy. After graduation he usually turns the same concentration and directed interest to his career.

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN,

COAST GUARD PURSUED TRAWLERS

WASHINGTON—Nobody is supposed to know it, but there was drama off the harbor of Boston the other day when the Coast Guard was asked by the Justice Department to hold up three New England fishing trawlers being sold to France as mine-sweepers.

The vessels were wooden. Germany's new magnetic mines explode whenever a steel ship passes nearby, so wooden ships for use in sweeping them up are at a premium in Europe.

Attorney General Murphy telephoned personally asking the Coast Guard to chase the trawlers and detain them if they were still in U. S. waters. However, either it was too late, or else the Coast Guard looked the other way, because the trawlers now are well on their way to France.

However, five other vessels purchased by France have been detained, and their transfer has been carefully scrutinized by an inter-departmental committee. One trawler is at New Orleans, two trawlers and a tug are at Boston, and one tug is at Charleston, S. C. All are old vessels, and the Maritime Commission found no American citizens interested in buying them.

ALABAMA AWARD

Reason Attorney General Murphy acted with such speed was the existence of a criminal statute against transferring to any belligerent a vessel which is to be used as a warship. And these trawlers were to become mine-sweepers, i. e., warships.

The statute is based on the Civil War case of the famous man-of-war "Alabama", built in English shipyards and turned over to the Confederacy to raid Union commerce. Afterward, the United States was awarded $15,500,000 for damage done to our shipping.

Therefore the Justice Department fears that if the trawlers are sold to France, they might damage Nazi vessels, and under international law, the United States could be held responsible.

However, the Maritime Commission and the State Department take a contrary view. They believe that the old wooden vessels could not easily damage German shipping, and that they are to be used to sweep up mines, not prey upon commerce.

One trouble is that the French line, which is purchasing the vessels, stated the facts with complete honesty. It listed the ships as mine-sweepers. If they had been listed as "fishing vessels," probably there would have been no hitch in the sale.

Note—The trawlers are 139 feet long and were owned by the Portland (Me.) Trawler Company, a subsidiary of the Atlantic Coast Fishery Company. They were built in 1919, are coal-burners and cannot compete with the new Diesel trawlers.

NEW SOLICITOR GENERAL

It's a White House secret, but the one hitch in the elevation of Attorney General

ing at football captains, however. The sneerer is rarely a success at anything but sneering, which is not a constructive or satisfying lifework for anybody.

DIET AND HEALTH

It's Tularemia Time Again

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

NEARLY every year at this time we have put in warnings as to the proper prevention of the disease known as tularemia. Tularemia is also called "rabbit fever" or "deer fly fever." Hunters and market men who skin rabbits, birds, etc., are particularly liable to it.

It is caused by a germ. The germ affects all forms of wild animal life, particularly rodents, rabbits and ground squirrels. It is called "deer fly fever" because deer are also affected. The germ is transmitted by flies. It gets in the circulating blood of animals; flies may suck it in from deer and transmit it to men. It is the "First American Disease," the only disease that belongs exclusively to our continent, and so far as is known has never been discovered outside of North America. It was first described in 1907.

Dr. Clendingen will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Has Three Forms

It may occur in man in three forms. The usual form is an ulceration on the finger with some enlargements of the lymph nodes of the arm. It is not necessary to have a cut on the skin in order to acquire the disease. It has been proved that rubbing the blood of the animal containing the tularemia germ on the intact skin will produce an ulceration.

The second form occurs in the eye. It is easy enough to see how this contamination occurs. A hunter skinning an animal may have an irritation of the eye and rub it, transmitting some of the blood and germs to the conjunctival sac.

A third form is a generalized fever, like typhoid fever. Last spring I saw a most unusual form of the disease in a man who had acquired it by skinning fish. This, so far as I know, is the only known case in which a fish was infected.

treatment is not specific. All the patients get well, but there is no way to accelerate the process. To know the nature of the disease, however, is to be able to prevent it. Anyone who dresses rabbits for market should wear rubber gloves. The handling of quail, ducks, squirrels and other game requires the same precautions.

A serum has been developed which is given after the disease is acquired, hypodermically every day, two or three successive days. This is quite a new development in the treatment and has not been proved to be effective. The serum, however, causes no discomfort and is certainly worth trying.

"TELL BILL GOODBYE"

WRITTEN FOR AND RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

By Marie Blizard

SYNOPSIS

THE CHARACTERS: FABIENNE SEYMOUR, rich, young and beautiful. NICKY BARTLETT, wealthy and in love with Fabienne. ELLEN CHAPMAN, young and capable mistress of Wiloughby House. DR. BILL MALLORY, close friend of Ellen's. YESTERDAY: Nicky helps Fabienne take her trunk to Ellen's apartment, where they find Bill waiting for her.

CHAPTER TWENTY-ONE

FABIENNE was reminded of Nicky standing at her elbow when he said to Bill, "You look as if you could handle them single handed. There are three trunks and seven pieces of smaller luggage."

"Righto," Bill answered cheerfully. "Go right on up. I'll have them up in a jiffy."

"Make it snappy," ordered Nicky.

"Miss Seymour wishes to leave shortly."

Fabienne listened to this exchange with dismay. Whatever had got into Nicky to behave this way. Suddenly she knew, and she said apologetically. "Dr. Mallory, meet an old friend of mine from home, Nicky Bartlett."

Nicky's well-bred face showed instant chagrin. He'd taken this great, careless fellow to be a t e superintendent. "Sorry, old man," he said, offering a friendly grin with his hand. "Ead light, you know."

"Forget it," Bill answered, crushing Nicky's hand in his. Irritated for no good reason, Fabienne said, "Come on upstairs, Nicky. And when they were up in the apartment and Bill was struggling with a trunk at the turn of the stairs, "Why did you say that I was leaving shortly? I'm not going any place."

"But you promised Mirabel you'd see her later."

"I've got a headache, Nicky. Tomorrow's Sunday. We can put it off until then. Besides, I must do a lot of unpacking. Please run along."

"I'll be darned! A few hours ago you were delighted to see me. Now it's 'Please run along, Nicky. We're late.' What's come over you lately, Fab?"

"I'm sorry, Nicky. I do behave badly. But I was glad to see you."

"Fab still loves Nicky?"

"Of course Fab still loves Nicky," she said, looking up at him affectionately, laughingly.

Her face was turned up like a flower. He bent over to kiss her on her cheek. But her mouth was red and tempting. He kissed her once and then again, lingeringly. She tried to push him away, hearing a sound at the door.

Bill Mallory stood in the door frame, looking embarrassed and something else that she was too confused to recognize.

He had seen the kiss, but he had not seen her feeble effort to push Nicky away. He had heard her say that she loved Nicky.

He said, "Sorry, folks, but you'll have to get a park bench until we get the trunks in. Two more coming up." He pulled one in with a yank of a powerful arm and went out again without looking at either of them.

Fabienne looked at the door through which he had passed. Then she turned around to Nicky and her cheeks were pink, her eyes hot. "I've changed my mind, darling. I will go back with you. I'd rather do my unpacking tomorrow. Come along."

To Bill, on the landing, she said, "I'm going with Nicky. Thanks for everything, Bill."

"It's nothing at all. Have a good time," he answered with cool politeness.

After the door closed in back of Nicky and Fabienne, and the big car rolled away smoothly, Bill Mallory sat on the landing step and groped for a pack of cigarettes. He lit one thoughtfully and said, "That's that, my boy."

In the town car Nicky was saying, "You and Cleopatra and your 'infinitive variety!' There's one thing about you, Fab, that never fails to fascinate me."

"Yes?" she said absently, her thoughts busy elsewhere.

"Your weather-vane decisions. One minute you will, the next minute you won't, or vice versa. Anyway, I'm glad you decided to come."

"Oh, THAT!" she answered. "I decided my headache wasn't too bad after all." Her statement was a long way from being truthful.

She had decided that if she found herself alone in the apartment with Bill Mallory she'd find herself bleating that she was not in love with Nicky and the kiss he'd seen didn't mean anything.

And after that little idiotic outburst, she thought, Bill would give her a long look of surprise that plainly said it meant nothing to him and why was she telling him all that.

Oh, no, she didn't intend to let herself in for anything like that. She must be very careful to see Bill only when Ellen was there. A friendly little threesome.

Nicky took her hand and her instinct was to pull it away. Instead, she said to him, "Nicky, I wish you'd try to be fascinating to me."

Nicky gave her a bemused, puzzled glance.

"My heart and my hand, not to mention a few trifling laces and penates, are yours for the asking, darling."

"I know," she said wearily. "How do you know? I've never really asked you to marry me."

She laughed. "That's right, but I got the idea somewhere."

"That I'd be waiting around."

She nodded.

"I am," he said dolefully. "But a chap sometimes gets tired of waiting too long. Some other girl might come along and find me a prize."

"If she did, darling, I'd probably snatch you myself."

"The trouble with you, Fab, is that you don't appreciate me."

"Maybe that is my trouble," she agreed, laughing at him. "Is that what you want in a girl?"

"That's what every man wants—appreciation. And when he gets it, it doesn't much matter whether the girl is a beauty like you—or some plain little gal like Ellen Chapman."

"Why don't you go to work, Nicky? Maybe I'd appreciate you then. Your life is such a waste. You can't spend your whole life playing polo, hunting, sailing, flying!"

"Don't you see, Fab—you want me to go to work because you think it's the right thing to do. That hasn't anything to do with me. I've done things that are right for me. I don't have to work and you haven't given me any good reason for doing it."

His words reminded her of something Aunt Edna had said:

"Nicky might do it for some girl if he had to work to gain her estimation. Another girl, perhaps. But if he'd been going to do it for you, he'd have done it long ago."

Nicky hadn't noticed her silence. He was continuing: "Interesting looking chap, Mallory. Friend of yours?"

"Ellen's beau. Didn't I tell you?"

And Bill was telling Ellen: "She's gone."

"What do you mean, Bill? Was she alone? Going to a party?"

"Don't know. She was with a fellow—Nicky Bartlett. Know him?"

"Only from hearing Fabienne talk about him. He comes from Maryland."

"What's he do?"

"Work? Nothing. He's one of the millionaire Bartletts of the tobacco family. He's been trying to marry Fab for the last eight years."

Bill tamped tobacco into his pipe with thoroughness. "Looks as if he wouldn't have to wait much longer."

Ellen laughed. "You don't know Fab. She's very fond of Nicky, but she told me that she loves him like a brother and wouldn't dream of marrying him."

Bill's eyes changed from gray to blue. He said, "No?"

Ellen smiled at him, shaking her head. "No, Bill. Clear field and good luck to you!"

A reader asks where the dessert is placed on the dinner table. The dessert is served as a separate course and is not brought in until the dishes of the main meal are removed. Then it is brought in in individual servings which are placed in front of each person. Or, if it is a cake or pudding, it may be brought in whole with plates or dishes suitable to serve it in, and served by the hostess in individual portions.

VELVET with fur is one of the oldest and the most luxurious alliances to be found in the sartorial scheme. So there is much of interest and beauty in the evening frock depicted here. The fabric is deep green-blue velvet, with sable-dyed fitch used for the strapless neckline in a most dramatic effect. The dress is seamed from top to hem, making a snug line at the waist to contrast with the skirt, which billows from below the hips. A matching muff completes the gala costume.

32,279 See Packers Whip New York In League's Title Contest

By Jim Gallagher

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Dec. 11—The luck of the Maras finally gave out, and today the New York Giants were headed for home, shorn of glory, championship and reputation.

The Green Bay Packers, gaily breaking training after a tough three-month season, once more are champions of the National Professional Football League — and worthy

Tigers To Meet Strong Lancaster Five Tuesday

Circleville High cagers, already suffering from two defeats, move into Lancaster Tuesday evening for a contest that will truly test the Red and Black's fighting ability and conditioning. Word comes from Lancaster that Coach Ray Coleman, with only one veteran from last year's team, is stressing speed and plenty of it. Ray Kiser, tall center, is the only veteran working on this year's crew, but that fact didn't stop the Gales from thumping Columbus West all over the court last Friday night.

Here's what the Lancaster paper has to say about Coleman's charges:

"It was a ragged and befuddled West outfit, the same team that tossed a scare into Hamilton's formidable outfit before bowing to it, 32-23. Lancaster poured it on in the first minute and never let up until the final horn had sounded.

"The Gales, with four rookies in the starting lineup, carried the game to the Buckaroos all the way. Lancaster's boys offset West's superior height and size by never allowing a man to get in front of them on defense and by accelerating their offensive to such a degree that West was lost in the shuffle.

"Lancaster's scoring machine was aided by some fancy pitching on the part of all the players, swishing the nets with some fancy grandstand and circus heaves."

Tigers Go to Work

The Tiger cagers were back at work Monday afternoon raring to go and hoping to improve their game after the McClain debacle last Friday. Failure to cover Miller and Riley at the sides of the court and lack of fight under the basket contributed to the Greenfield loss, so plenty of defensive work is expected. No changes are expected in the Tiger starting lineup of Smith, Walters, Staley and Bowsher, although Jim Callihan, junior forward, showed by his work against Greenfield that a place must be made for him before very long.

Reserves will play at Lancaster, too, the contests being booked

in the high school's spacious gymnasium.

Travel to Chillicothe
Friday evening the Red and Black team open the cage season in Chillicothe with Earl Young's team. Young, for once, is offering no pre-season abilis concerning his quintet, so it can be expected that Chillicothe will be well represented on the hardwood.

BUCKEYE COURT SQUAD TO SEE ACTION TWICE

COLUMBUS, Dec. 11 — Ohio's collegiate cagers today were set for a gala pre-holiday week, scheduling more than 50 games from Monday night through Saturday night.

After this week, however, there will be a letdown until after the Christmas holidays when again the cagers will swing into action until early March.

With two games on the docket, Ohio State University's Western Conference title holders see action for the first time. The Bucks clash with Wabash on Thursday night in the Fairgrounds Coliseum and on Saturday Wooster trades baskets with the Scarlet and Gray five. The Buck reserves played last week, losing to Otterbein 29 to 24.

Xavier, tonight, undertakes a stern test, travelling to Bloomington, Ind., to meet the always tough Indiana quintet. Toledo, during the week, has two double-headers scheduled, opposing Defiance and Albion on Tuesday and Princeton and Tiffin Junior College on Saturday.

LARGE AUDIENCE SEES BOY SCOUTS ADVANCED TO RANKING OF EAGLE

FOUR PICKAWAY DISTRICT BOYS IN CEREMONIAL

Mothers Pin Awards On Sons During Impressive Rites In Memorial Hall

OTHER YOUTHS HONORED

Four From Circleville Now Wear Insignia Designating Star Classification

A large group of Circleville and Pickaway County folk attended the annual Court of Honor Ceremony in Memorial Hall, Columbus, Sunday afternoon, when four Scouts of the Pickaway District achieved the top ranking in Scoutdom, that of Eagle Scouts.

Honored were Myron Gearhart, Troop 5 of First Presbyterian Church, Kingston; David Yates and Carl Bach, Troop 107 of First Methodist Church, Circleville, and David Orr, Troop 158 of Howard Hall Post, American Legion, Circleville.

There were 82 Scouts of central Ohio given the Eagle Scout awards. More than 3,000 persons attended the ceremonial of the Central Ohio Area Council.

The Eagle Scout candidates sat with their parents, scoutmasters and friends in the front portion of the auditorium. They stood as Chairman Paul L. Selby of the Scout advancement committee, conducted the "Eagle Scout Creation" ceremony. The Eagle Scout emblems were pinned on the youths by their mothers.

Three Local Members

Three men of the Pickaway District were members of the Court of Honor. They were James I. Smith, Jr., district chairman; the Rev. Robert T. Kelsey, chairman of the district committee on Scout advancement, and Renick Dunlap, Kingston.

Congressman John M. Vorys urged Scouts to be self-reliant and to use their laurels as stepping stones to greater achievements. The speaker said there was too much "hitch hiking" in America today and too many persons are "just riding along."

A musical program was provided by the Kiwanis boys' choir of Columbus. Other features of the program included the parade of colors, pledge of allegiance and group singing.

In addition to the Eagle Scout ceremony a group of Pickaway district Scouts received advancement and merit badges at the Court of Honor.

Others Honored

The advancements in Troop 158 of the American Legion included William Ebert, Don Goodchild, Lloyd Jones and William Kockenberger, advanced to Star Scouts; David Orr, senior patrol leader certificate; and merit badges were awarded in agriculture and auto-mobiling to William Ebert, path-finding, and 12 to Paul Burtnier in varied tests.

Advancements in Troop 205 of the Circleville Presbyterian Church included Carl Jenkins, advanced to Star Scout and merit badges to James Sensenbrenner, cycling and cooking; and Carl Jenkins, cycling, animal industry, swimming and firemanship.

Scoutmasters of the troops in which advancements were made are Troop 5, Kingston, Chester Mullins; Troop 107, Circleville, Ervin Leist; Troop 158, Paul Burtnier; and Troop 205, Dr. F. C. Schaeffer.

GOTHAM POLICE SEEK PUGILIST IN NAZI DEATH

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 — Police today intensified the search for Ernie Haas, a pugilist, sought for questioning in connection with the murder of Dr. Walter Engelberg, first secretary of the German consulate here.

A man identifying himself as Haas telephoned a gymnasium Saturday, stating he knew he was "in a jam" and promising to "come in," but he never appeared, according to police. Haas was believed to have visited Dr. Engelberg shortly before the German attaché was bludgeoned to death in his house in Brooklyn last Tuesday.

Presidential Hopefuls

The Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

Murphy to the Supreme Court vacancy has been solved.

This was finding the right man to step into Bob Jackson's shoes as Solicitor General when he moved up to Murphy's place as Attorney General. The President has found his man.

He is Judge Francis Biddle of the U. S. Court of Appeals of Philadelphia, chairman of the Old National Labor Board and counsel of the 1937 TVA investigating committee of Congress. In the long history of the federal judiciary, few appeals judges have stepped down from their $12,500 lifetime jobs to re-enter public life, particularly at a lower salary. The Solicitor General gets $10,000 a year.

But Biddle, age 53, and one of the most brilliant court lawyers in the country, is willing. So he has accepted Roosevelt's offer to succeed Jackson. The three appointments will not be announced until Congress meets in January.

ANNENBERG TRIAL

Some queer things seem to be happening in the famous Annenberg $5,000,000 income tax case—probably the biggest income tax case of all times.

Though the trial is just beginning, apparently there is going to be no trial. The battery of stenographers and law clerks on each side who were preparing the case are now looking for other jobs. E. Riley Campbell, Treasury Department specialist helping to handle the case, is headed for a vacation in the Ozarks. Weymouth Kirkland, crack Annenberg attorney, sits at ease in the courtroom while his assistants make minor motions.

Everything points to an arrangement whereby the big race track publisher will ease out of the picture with a minimum of headaches.

One of the most significant developments is the fact that certain underworld characters, who hitherto have not talked regarding other phases of Chicago gambling, now are talking. Their conversation pertains to the operations of Billy Skidmore, king of the gambling fraternity and close ally of the Kelly-Nash machine. Skidmore already is indicted for income tax evasion, and it looks as if word had been passed down the line that he was to be put on the altar to appease public opinion, instead of Moe Annenberg.

NO DEAL MURPHY

These developments have been a source of worry to the Justice Department. For if there is an arrangement to let Annenberg down easily, Frank Murphy doesn't know about it. Twice, Annenberg Attorney Kirkland has come to Washington to suggest that the Justice Department join in a plea for clemency. But Murphy has declined. In fact, he has given instructions to his district attorney, William Campbell, to press the court for a jail sentence.

The Justice Department's attitude is that if Democratic Boss Pendergast in Kansas City got 15 months for an income tax invasion of $551,000, then Annenberg, the Pennsylvania Republican power, deserves a jail sentence for an evasion of $5,000,000.

All eyes are turned on Judge James H. Wilkerson, the man who gave Al Capone 11 years for an income tax evasion of $215,000. Judge Wilkerson is a Harding appointee, and the Railway Brotherhood charged that he was placed upon the Chicago federal bench so the railroads might be sure of getting an injunction against striking railway shopmen in 1922.

Judge Wilkerson granted the injunction just after his appointment, and this fact defeated his confirmation as circuit court judge in 1932. President Hoover had given him this promotion, but the opposition of labor defeated him in the Senate.

WILKERSON TAKES CASE

One thing which especially interests Justice and Treasury officials is the fact that Judge Wilkerson is trying the Annenberg case himself. Originally the indictments were handled by Judge William H. Holly, a Roosevelt appointee. He was also scheduled to handle the income tax case, but several of his Republican friends came to him and suggested that as a New Dealer he should not pass judgment on Annenberg.

Later Wilkerson, as senior judge, called in Judge Holly and suggested that it would be best to have the Annenberg income tax case sent back to him and he would reassign it—together with the lottery cases—to a judge outside of Chicago. Wilkerson said that aside from some preliminary motions which he might try himself, it would be less embarrassing if an outside judge handled the entire Annenberg case.

BLAST TOLL NOW THREE

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Dec. 11—Known death toll of the boiler explosion aboard the Ohio river steamboat J. C. Rawn mounted to three today with the recovery of the body of Fred Gebhardt, 51, from the river. The explosion occurred last Thursday. Federal investigators hoped to determine the cause this week.

FATHER OF 24 CHILDREN

BERLIN, N. H.—Something of a record of modern times is that boasted by Arthur Morel, Canadian world war veteran and building contractor, who is the father of 24 children. Morel has been married twice. His first wife died in 1924, leaving him with 12 children. The second Mrs. Morel, the former Germaine Turnell, also presented him with an even dozen children.

Large Buck Deer Moves Through County District

A large buck deer, the first reported in Pickaway County in many years, made its appearance Sunday near Circleville.

The deer was first seen Sunday morning by Patrolman Fred Fitzpatrick and Jacob Hunsinger, janitor at the city building.

The two city employees took a load of hobo's out of town. When passing the Phillips farm, just south of the city, they noticed the deer. The buck was feeding in some blue grass near the highway and trotted back toward some stock on the farm.

On returning to Circleville they notified Clarence Francis, county conservation officer, about the deer. He watched the deer run northward toward Circleville and to the Crites farm, just south of the city. There it was lost from view along a hedge fence.

No additional reports of the deer were received until Sunday evening when Dr. V. D. Kerns reported the deer crossed Route 56 near the Kingston Pike. The deer was traveling northward at that time.

Mr. Francis said the deer is the first reported in Pickaway County since he has been conservation officer. That covers a period of 10 years.

He believes the buck escaped from the Roosevelt game preserve near Portsmouth. Mr. Francis warned county folk that there is a heavy penalty for killing deer in Ohio.

A large deer, which may be the same one, was seen near Kingston by William Friece, Circle City dairy employee, the latter part of last week.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 — Tennessee and Texas A. and M. presumably two of the great football teams of the last decade or so are about to get a chance to prove it beyond further rebuttal. If Tennessee, with its perfect record—unmarred by even so little as a point for the opposition—can turn back Southern California in the Rose Bowl and Texas A. and M. can accomplish a similar end against Tulane in the Sugar Bowl in the two headline New Year's Day spectacles, these results must bring to a lasting conclusion speculation on the merits of the so-called volunteers and the Aggies.

Tennessee played a miserable schedule by contrast with what other leading teams had to face, but the Tennesseans seemed to indicate that they could have handled just about anything thrown at them, with 10 victories for the season and 23 in a row since last beaten. The Tennesseans also won 10 straight starts on a much tougher schedule than Tennessee's, and allowed the opposition 18 points.

Here is the New Year's Day program of major attractions with the favorites named first and the probable betting odds:

Rose Bowl, Pasadena, Cal. — Southern California, 6-5, vs. Tennessee.

Sugar Bowl, New Orleans — Texas A. and M., 6-5, vs. Tulane.

Orange Bowl, Miami — Missouri, 7-5, vs. Georgia Tech.

Cotton Bowl, Dallas, Tex. — Boston College vs. Clemson, 6 to 5 and take your pick.

Sun Bowl, El Paso, Tex. — Arizona State, 7-5, vs. Catholic University of Washington, D. C.

TROJANS TO VIE IN BOWL AFTER EVADING DEFEAT

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 11 — Southern California's battered Trojans, after one tie and one win Saturday with the surprising U. C. L. A. Bruins, started a week of welcome rest today before hitting the trail to the Pasadena Rose Bowl for their New Year's bout with Tennessee.

The Trojans, with a casualty list that looks worse than a communique from the Western Front, were held to a scoreless tie by the Bruins—in fact, just barely stayed off defeat—but went on to win the bowl bid in the balloting of the ten conference member schools.

U. S. C. wound up the regular season with no defeats and two ties, while the Bruins also were undefeated but tied three times in the conference and once out. But those amazing Bruins, picked to finish nowhere at the start of the season and 2 to 1 underdogs against U. S. C., just about slipped the skids under the famous Trojans, and they had plenty of witnesses, in fact 104,000, the biggest grid crowd anywhere this fall.

Dozenberg, who waived extradition and was held in $50,000 bail, was expected to be brought to New York within the next 10 days. With his arrest, the federal government now has in custody three of the party leaders, the others being Earl R. Browder, No. 1 man, and Robert W. Wiener, financial secretary.

The whereabouts of Dozenberg's wife, Katherine, who was named in the complaint with him remained a mystery.

A sealed indictment believed to name other persons suspected of aiding in operation of a Communist passport mill was still on file in federal court. The October grand jury, held over to continue the passport probe, resumed today.

MAKES LIGHT IRON LUNG

MIAMI, Fla.—Work on a special light respirator for Fred Snite, Jr., noted lad of iron lung fame, is near completion according to Dennis R. Scanlan, manufacturer of special surgical instruments. "We now have a respirator for Fred that weighs only five pounds. We never would have been able to develop such a machine except for Fred's patience and willingness to help us," Scanlan said. Snite recently arrived in Miami to spend the winter.

TRAFFIC RESUMES OVER C. & O. AFTER ACCIDENT

MAYSVILLE, Ky., Dec. 11 — Traffic was resumed today over a main line of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway after the locomotive of the Railway's crack passenger train George Washington was derailed when it struck a small automobile. The train was bound from Cincinnati to Washington.

Occupants of the automobile, Earl Watson, Murphysville, and Carson French, Mt. Olivet, jumped before the crash and escaped uninjured. The car was demolished.

GUARD DOCKS

TOLEDO, O.—Railroad police and watchmen at Great Lakes coal and ore docks here have been advised by the United States Coast Guard to use extra precaution in permitting visitors near the docks. The protective measures are in line with those taken at the Sault Ste. Marie locks and other important lake terminals.
